Soviet "Aims" In Balkans Are Hit By Greece

U.N. Action To Check Situation Is Asked

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 6 (AP) — Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis declared tonight that Russia and her Balkan satellites would completely absorb Greece unless action is taken to check the present Balkan situation.

In a slashing attack on Russia, Dendramis told the United Nations Security Council that Russia's veto of the United States plan for a "watchdog" commission in the Balkans had definitely indicated Moscow's aim.

"The object," he said, "is to muzzle and to strait-jacket the means of defending the peace.

"The object is to give the appearance of a solution and to lull the world into a false sense of security until it is too late — until the newspapers have reported that it is all over and that one more country has been reduced to vassalage."

Australia Demands Action

Dendramis spoke as the council sought in vain to agree on some action to halt the Balkan disorders which most of the delegates agreed were a serious menace to peace.

He took the floor after Australia proposed that the council apply the "Indonesian formula" to the complicated problem and Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko declared the proposal was "not acceptable."

Australia demanded that the council call on the four quarreling Balkan countries "to cease all acts of provocation" immediately and enter into direct negotiations.

Australian Delegate Col. W. R. Hodgson told the council this formula had worked in the Indonesian case and declared that the Balkan situation is so serious the council must not delay any longer.

Pessimistic Debate

Hodgson offered his proposal in the midst of a pessimistic debate which already had brought these developments:

1. Creation of a seven-nation subcommittee to make a final effort to find a compromise solution by next Monday.

2. Rejection of a Polish proposal which in effect would have called upon the Balkan countries to settle their differences themselves.

3. A clash between the United States and Russia over whether the subsidiary group of the Balkan Investigating Commission has a right to continue functioning.

Truman Vetoes 7 Bills, OKs 6; Raps Congress

Science Foundation Measure Is Killed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — President Truman today vetoed legislation for a national science foundation, along with seven other bills, and took Congress to task for what he termed a proposed infringement on the powers of the President.

Mr. Truman also chided Congress for passing a measure which, he said, "restricts and narrows coverage of our Social Security law, while our objective should be to enlarge that coverage."

That bill, which he vetoed, would have relieved certain vendors of newspapers and magazines and their employers from paying Social Security taxes.

Working at high speed, Mr. Truman cleared away 18 of 30 bills still hanging fire from the last session of Congress.

Signs Pay Tax Freeze Bill

Among the 10 signed was a measure freezing the Social Security payroll tax for another two years at one per cent on employes' pay and employers' payrolls. Otherwise the tax would automatically have jumped to 2.5 per cent against both employe and employer next January 1.

The eight bills killed met "pocket vetoes"—the President will leave them unsigned and thus, with Congress in recess, they will die. Most of them were of minor significance. Mr. Truman issued statements explaining the reasons for his disapproval.

He expressed "deep regret" at killing the science foundation measure. It would have created a 24-member committee of scientists, appointed by the President, to control the expenditure of millions of dollars annually for research into defense and health problems. No money was actually appropriated under it.

Unsound Principles

The scientists themselves would have appointed a chief executive officer to direct actual operations of the foundation. They would also have been authorized to set up an unlimited number of divisions for the various branches of science and research, as well as appoint numerous commissions.

Declaring that the bill contains provisions representing "a marked departure from sound principles for the administration of public affairs," Mr. Truman made these salient objections:

1. "Aside from the conflicts and confusions which would result from this complex organization, the bill would violate basic principles which make for responsible government."

2. It "represents a substantial denial of the President's appointing power, as well as an impairment of his ability to see that the laws are faithfully executied."

3. "There would be no means for insuring responsible administration of the law."

BREWSTER TESTIFIES—Howard Hughes (center) and his attorney, Thomas Slack (right), confer as Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me) testifies before the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee. Brewster denied that he offered to call off a war plane contract investigation if Hughes would merge Trans World Airline with Pan American.

Did Not Offer To Halt Probe, Senator Says

Admits That Airline Merger Discussed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 — (AP) — Millionaire Howard Hughes and Sen. Brewster (R-Me.) put under oath today a charge and denial that the Senator offered to call off a war plane contract investigation if Hughes would merge Trans World Airline with Pan American Airways.

They gave their squarely contradictory testimony at a tense hearing of a Senate War Investigating Subcommittee.

Hughes accused the committee of applying "the screws" to him.

Brewster said attempts had been made to "trap" him into preventing a full investigation of Hughes' contracts with the government.

Hughes controls TWA. Brewster, chairman of the investigating committee, has denied any connection with Pan American.

Under investigation by the subcommittee are $40,000,000 of wartime plane contracts the government gave Hughes and Industralist Henry J. Kaiser.

Putting On "The Screws"

Hughes said "I charge specifically" that at a luncheon in the Brewster suite in the Mayflower Hotel here last February:

"The Senator in so many words told me that the hearings need not go on if I agreed to merge the TWA with Pan American and to go along with the bill for a single overseas airline."

After he refused to go through with a merger, he said, he interpreted the timing of the subsequent dispatch of Committee Investigator Francis Flanagan to the West Coast as putting on "the screws."

Brewster flatly said it wasn't so that he ever offered to halt the inquiry now in progress—"I can assure you that I never did."

His voice broke with emotion as he testified that as early as last April 16, an effort was made to lay the groundwork for a charge of his proposing to stop the inquiry if the airline merger went through.

Preliminary inquiries were under way then into the affairs of Hughes' companies, he said. And he went on:

Hugh Fulton, once the chief committee counsel, saw George Meader, who at that time was chief counsel. Fulton suggested that Meader withhold any recommendation on continuing or dropping the inquiry but "leave that decision entirely to Sen. Brewster."

"If that statement of Mr. Meader is accurate," Brewster said, "it certainly reveals pretty accurately the trap that they were seeking to lay for me."

Twice Discussed Merger

Brewster acknowledged he had twice discussed with Hughes a possible merger of TWA and Pan American.

Once, he said, was when he entertained the tool, movie and plane manufacturer in his hotel apartment here last February. The other, he added, was in a transcontinental telephone call in March.

But of Hughes' declaration that he offered to cancel the hearings in exchange for the merger, the Senator said he "never did"; that th proposition "sounds more like Hollywood than it does Washington."

Lane Will Call Special Session Of Legislature

Baltimore Seeking New Taxing Powers

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 6—(AP)—Gov. Lane promised Baltimore City officials today a special General Assembly session would be held to deal with the municipality's fiscal problems, but did not mention any date for the meeting.

At a conference, attended by state and city officials, Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the State Roads Commission, told the Baltimoreans that if they did not settle upon an expressway project, they would lose $4,460,000 in federal road funds.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr., of Baltimore, asked the Governor to call the special session to grant taxing powers to raise $12,282,049.

The sum represented the difference between the proposed $87,769,344 budget and expected revenues.

In the roads portion of the conference, Reindollar told the city officials that both Cumberland and Hagerstown had approached the State Roads Commission for a part of the urban fund appropriated by the federal government.

"If Baltimore does not provide a satisfactory plan for an expressway, we are going to deal with them rather than lose the money to the state.

"Of course," he said, "Baltimore being the largest center of population, it has been our desire to see that it gets the largest share of the fund."

Gov. Lane said he was studying the problem of new taxing patterns. "The question is whether we are to collect and distribute money or grant new taxing powers to the municipalities."

He declined to set a definite date for the special session chiefly on the ground that he wished the State Board of Revenue Estimates and the Fiscal Research Bureau to have a look at the problem first.

BLEACHERS COLLAPSE AT SCENE OF TROTTING STAKES; 73 INJURED

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP) — Seventy three persons were injured and hundreds were hurled to the ground when two sections of temporary bleachers at the Good Time Park track collapsed an hour before the running of the historic Hambletonian trotting stakes today.

Only two persons were seriously hurt, State Trooper John Hogan reported, although 30 were taken to Goshen Hospital for treatment. Most of them were released within a short time.

Forty-three others were given first aid at a Red Cross tent at the track. Many of these suffered only skinned faces and legs, Hogan said.

A record crowd of about 22,000 was at the track when the stands crashed to the ground. There were no outcries and most of the persons pulled themselves out of the debris, Hogan said.

Two More Auto Firms Up Prices; Ford Shuts Down

Packard And K-F Follow GM Lead

DETROIT, Aug. 6— (AP) —Two more of the nation's automobile manufacturers, feeling the pinch of steadily-mounting production costs, increased their retail prices again today and trade quarters generally believe similar advances are in the making throughout most of the remainder of the industry.

Packard, which so far this year has failed to make a profit on its operations, increased prices on its various models from $92 to $200; Kaiser-Frazer, which has just emerged from the "red," implemented an increase of $99 on its Frazier standard model.

A week ago General Motors increased retail car prices from $57 to $168.

Ford Closes Plants

And while prices to the new car buyer continued to move upward, production got another blow as Ford closed down its plants tonight until next Tuesday. The Ford shutdown meant a loss of three working days' output, or a little more than 9,000 passenger cars, and idled about 51,000 hourly-rated employes. The halting of the Ford assembly lines was attributed to materials shortages.

Meanwhile work suspension in other plants, attributed mainly or indirectly to the intense heat, made approximately 27,000 more auto workers idle in the Detroit area today. Chiefly affected were 9,500 workers in four Briggs Manufacturing Company plants, and about 16,600 Chrysler Corporation employes, whose work material was cut off by the Briggs suspension.

Third Packard Hike Of Year

Packard's price increase was the third upward revision by that company so far this year. On January 7, it announced a "weighted average increase of $62 per car after allowing for a spare tire now being shipped as standard equipment." On May 14, increases ranging from $75 to $224 were made effective.

Also on May 14, Kaiser-Frazer upped the price of its Frazer standard model $139 and its Kaiser Special $124. W. A. MacDonald, Kaiser-Frazer vice president in charge of sales, said the company had no present plans to increase the price of its Kaiser Special or Frazer Manhattan models at this time.

Hardship Regime For Britain Laid Down By Attlee

Loan Modification Talks Announced

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee disclosed today that Britain's borrowed dollars were running out at the rate of $3,240,000,000 a year and laid down a program of military retrenchment, spartan hardship, "limited" labor controls and "some sacrifice" of personal liberty as the price this country must pay to survive."

The Labor Prime Minister spoke in sombre tones to a packed House of Commons while outside the Houses of Parliament and No. 10 Downing Street unsmiling crowds, like those which gathered in the crisis days before the war, waited to hear what new sacrifices would be demanded in Britain's economic plight.

Most of the little man's worst fears were fulfilled.

Attlee told him the nation was engaged in a "second battle of Britain" which "cannot be won by a few."

He said there would be less food, less gasoline, less timber for new houses, less goods in the stores, perhap fewer Hollywood movie, longer hours of work.

He announced that United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall has agreed to high level negotiations on the "whole of the implications" of the fast-disappearing American loan of $3,750,000,000—which Britain had expected would last until 1950 but which Attlee said will be gone before the end of this year.

Marshall, Snyder Disagree

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall held out to the British today a guarded hope for American assistance in their economic crisis by some agreement under the Anglo-American loan pact which would lessen the drain on their dwindling dollar supply.

Marshall told a news conference it is his understanding that at least two provisions of the loan contract could be modified without congressional action. Those are the provisions under which Britain now has to buy from the United States without discriminating in favor of other suppliers, and has to convert foreign markets into dollars on request.

The effect of modification apparently would be to allow the British to buy more needed supplies abroad with pounds which would not be wholly convertible and so conserve their dollars.

Even while Marshall was expressing his opinions to a news conference at the State Department, however, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder was telling other reporters at the Treasury Department that in his opinion modification of the year-old loan provisions would require congressional action. He said the United States has already taken those steps which it could without congressional action.

Truman Will Fly To Rio For Windup Of Treaty Parley

Warship Missouri To Bring Him Home

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — President Truman, in his role of good will ambassador, will fly to Rio De Janeiro for closing sessions of a defense conference of all 21 American republics.

The mighty battleship Missouri will be on hand to bring him home after a three-day visit to the Brazilian capital.

This third trip of the President to neighboring countries to bind stronger hemispheric ties will be made late this month or early September.

The White House disclosed the plans today in a brief announcement. Although it made no mention of the inter-American security meeting, the timing indicates that Mr. Truman will be there for the closing days. It opens August 15.

The conference is called to negotiate a treaty for mutual defense; to throw military resources of the America's back of any member invaded or threatened.

Enthusiastic receptions for the President in Mexico City last March and in Ottawa in June led to plans to make the visit to Rio De Janeiro at a time when he may visit with foreign ministers drawn there from the other neighbor countries for the meeting.

It was not stated whether Mrs. Truman will accompany the President, as had been reported, or whether he plans any stops on the way back.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross would not expand on the brief statement even to the point of saying whether Mr. Truman will address the conference.

Hungarian Credit Cancelled By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Denouncing the recent Hungarian government upset as a Communist coup, Secretary of State Marshall today disclosed concellation of a $7,000,000 credit promised Hungary.

The State Department simultanously took a poke at another of Russia's Balkan neighbors by renewing an official protest against the Romanian government's widespread arrest of opposition leaders.

From Poland, meanwhile, came an appeal for restoration of the relief funds originally designed for that country in the new $332,000,000 American program. Marshall struck Poland off the list for aid July 23 after an American mission reported the Poles have enough food in sight to get by and officials considered it unlikely that the action would be reversed.

Marshall told a news conference one of the main reasons the United States shut off the credit for Hungary was because numerous government officials in which it has confidence have fled into exile.

The Export-Import Bank decided to cancel the credit, which was to have been used to buy American cotton, five days ago. Marshall said it acted after examining the situation anew in view of the overthrow of the Hungarian government in May by Communists.

Freight Car Rental Hiked

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — A divided Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered freight car per diem raised to $2 effective October 1. This is the rental paid by a railroad for use of a car owned by another.

Election Argument Results In Murder

MOSELLE, Miss., Aug. 6—(AP)—District Attorney Homer Pittman said two men were charged with murder today as a result of a shooting arising from an election argument over negro voting in yesterday's Democratoc primary.

He identified them as Walter and Ellis Gerald.

They are charged, he said, with slaying R. W. Phillips, 44, during an argument between the two Gerald brothers and two Phillips brothers. The other Phillips brother, Otis, was wounded and is undergoing hospital treatment at Hattiesburg.

Train Crash Injures 25

LITCHFIELD, Ill., Aug. 6 (AP) — At least 25 persons were injured today when the Illinois Central Railroad's "Green Diamond" passenger train rammed a Burlington Railroad freight train at the crossing of the two lines near here.

None of the injured was in serious condition, Dr. G. A. Sihler, of Litchfield, reported. Thirteen persons remained in St. Francis Hospital with cuts and bruises.

Five coaches of the Green Diamond were overturned and some of them were damaged badly. Rescuers kicked out windows to remove the injured. Six cars of the freight train upset, scattering coal through the wreckage.

The Burlington's general offices at Chicago said a preliminary investigation showed that the Green Diamond ran through a signal and derailed, hitting the freight train about four cars behind the locomotive.

F. W. Stephenson, of Springfield, I. C. passenger agent, said at the scene that the streamliner struck the freight at the first car behind the locomotive. The Green Diamond was carrying 150 passengers.

The general office of the Illinois Central in Chicago declined to comment on the wreck cause, pending further investigation.

Gibson Sees Danger In New York Labor Law

YORK, Pa., Aug. 6—(AP)—John W. Gibson, Assistant Secretary of Labor, said tonight the Labor Department is "apprehensive" over the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

He declared there is "a very real danger" that the law "contains elements which might be the forerunner of dire consequences."

It was the Labor Department's first official statement on the new law since its enactment June 23, although Secretary Schwellenbach spoke out against many of its provisions when they were still pending in Congress.

Gibson's speech was for the summer industrial conference of the United Wallpaper Company. He had been invited to give an analysis of the new law, but he had told the sponsors of the conference beforehand that he would not attempt this.

Oliphant Appointed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—President Truman today appointed Charles Oliphant, of Maryland, as assistant general counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

British War Bride Is Flying Home To Die

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Aug. 6—(AP)—A British war bride, unaware that doctors say she will die of cancer in a few months, tonight was happily winging homeward across the Atlantic in an Army transport plane.

The former Nina Maude Willgrass, of Norwich, England, now the wife of an American Air Forces veteran, took off late today for Frankfurt, Germany, with her husband, Charles Billie Delcoure, 23-year-old Magnolia, Tex., sawmill worker, and their four-month-old daughter, Carol.

Government officials arranged to have the family board the plane this afternoon when crowded Transatlantic schedules threatened to halt their trip until Monday.

Harriet Elliott Dies

CARBONDALE, Ill., Aug. 6 (AP) —Miss Harriet Elliott, 63, dean of women and professor of political science at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina, died today. She was a prominent Democrat and served on several public service committees under the administration of the late President Roosevelt.

USSR Atom Plan Rejected By U. S.

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 6 (AP) — The United States rejected today as "inadequate" and "wolly inacceptable" Soviet Russia's proposal for an international control commission for atomic energy.

This evoked a dramatic plea from Poland, which has stood alone with Russia in the long atomic negotiations, for understanding among the nations and a solemn statement that "we are talking about preventing atomic weapons and at the same time we are approaching step by step another conflict."

The developments came as the Political Committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission met under what Roland Liem, of China, called the "grim shadow" of Hiroshima. He noted that this was the second anniversary of the first use of the atomic bomb in war and said the delegates must prevent the "mass disaster" that would come from an atomic war.

Chile Senator, Woman Killed In Auto Crash

RICHMOND, Ky., Aug. 6 (AP) — Diego Echnique, 47, a Senator from Chile, and a woman riding with him were killed late today when their automobile collided with a farm truck near Richmond.

The Kentucky Highway Patrol office here said Echenique carried many government papers identifying him with diplomatic business, including one authorizing his admission to the United Nations chambers.

A daughter of the woman suffered injuries which hospital authorities said were not believed to be serious.

The woman and the daughter were identified by passports as Mrs. Elvira Valde's De Echeverria, 38, and Sonia Echeverria, 17, who, like Senator Echenique, were from Santiago.

Rapist Attempts Courtroom Escape After Drawing 440-Year Sentence

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6 (AP) — Frank S. Avilez, 26, known as the "Black Gloved Rapist," made a wild attempt to escape from a courtroom today after being sentenced to 440 years in prison on rape, robbery and burglary charges.

Six policemen finally were able to control the tall, rangy prisoner.

Avilez had stood for two hours before Superior Judge Melvin Cronin while being sentenced individually on seven counts of rape, four attempted rapes, one assault, 10 burglaries and 10 robberies.

All this time he stood quietly, handcuffed to Bailiff Frank Burns.

"How a man could conduct himself like that is beyond me," Judge Cronin concluded. "I think that is all."

Bailiff Burns turned to take his prisoner to the jail, a camera-man's flash bulb flared. Avilez pulled the deputy around, kicked at the photographer, and then lunged at two deputies.

Six officers finally got Avilez down and were able to hold him. A lamp was knocked over and crashed to the floor. Avilez's mother, his wife and two sisters screamed at him to be quiet.

Still fighting like a tiger, he was controlled only after his hands had been cuffed behind his back and leg irons were applied. Then he was carried up to the jail.

Heat Wave Claims 61 Lives; Relief Hopes Dim

[By The Associated Press]

A four-day siege of 100 degree heat, mostly in the midwestern states, brought death to at least 61 persons by Wednesday night and hopes for quick relief were dimmed when a promised cool air mass from Canada weakened before spreading through the area.

The cool air spread slowly into the Great Plains States, Northwest Wisconsin, Upper Michigan, West and Central Iowa and Minnesota. Federal forecasters said it would drop temperatures only slightly Thursday in the northern belt of the midwest.

Elsewhere in the nation, seasonal weather prevailed Wednesday. The East Coast and southeastern states had 85 to 90 degree temperatures, and the desert areas of the far Southwest had their usual above 100 readings.

Subject Of Bonus Expected To Be Placed Before Legion Convention

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6—(AP)—Although the Maryland American Legion defeated a resolution a year ago calling for a state bonus for veterans of World War II, the subject is expected to be placed before the state department again at its annual convention which opened tonight.

Samuel J. Cohen, Hagerstown, one of three candidates for department commander, disclosed today that 19 posts in the Western Maryland District had approved the state bonus resolution. The posts are in Frederick, Carroll and Washington counties. No amount was specified.

Cohen said that this resolution, and another approved by the 19 posts urging a federal pension for World War I veterans at the age of 60, would be reported to the five-day state meeting.

The incumbent commander, John F. Boschen, Baltimore, said the Legion defeated the bonus proposal resolution 90-10 at its 1946 state meeting in Cumberland.

Contests of every description will mark this 29th annual convention.

A city-wide contest for hotel rooms or other quarters already was on.

The battle for rooms started early this morning as the vanguard of 15,000 Legionnaires and their wives arrived to find most mid-town hostelries stretching their capacities to the utmost.

Not the least in the series of competitions will be the election of state officers, which will close the convention Sunday morning.

Joint meeting of the Legion and its ladies auxiliary opened the convention.

Train Crash Injures 25

LITCHFIELD, Ill., Aug. 6 (AP) — At least 25 persons were injured today when the Illinois Central Railroad's "Green Diamond" passenger train rammed a Burlington Railroad freight train at the crossing of the two lines near here.

None of the injured was in serious condition, Dr. G. A. Sihler, of Litchfield, reported. Thirteen persons remained in St. Francis Hospital with cuts and bruises.

Five coaches of the Green Diamond were overturned and some of them were damaged badly. Rescuers kicked out windows to remove the injured. Six cars of the freight train upset, scattering coal through the wreckage.

The Burlington's general offices at Chicago said a preliminary investigation showed that the Green Diamond ran through a signal and derailed, hitting the freight train about four cars behind the locomotive.

F. W. Stephenson, of Springfield, I. C. passenger agent, said at the scene that the streamliner struck the freight at the first car behind the locomotive. The Green Diamond was carrying 150 passengers.

The general office of the Illinois Central in Chicago declined to comment on the wreck cause, pending further investigation.

Gibson Sees Danger In New York Labor Law

YORK, Pa., Aug. 6—(AP)—John W. Gibson, Assistant Secretary of Labor, said tonight the Labor Department is "apprehensive" over the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

He declared there is "a very real danger" that the law "contains elements which might be the forerunner of dire consequences."

It was the Labor Department's first official statement on the new law since its enactment June 23, although Secretary Schwellenbach spoke out against many of its provisions when they were still pending in Congress.

Gibson's speech was for the summer industrial conference of the United Wallpaper Company. He had been invited to give an analysis of the new law, but he had told the sponsors of the conference beforehand that he would not attempt this.

Oliphant Appointed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—President Truman today appointed Charles Oliphant, of Maryland, as assistant general counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Two More Auto Firms Up Prices; Ford Shuts Down

Packard And K-F Follow GM Lead

DETROIT, Aug. 6— (AP) —Two more of the nation's automobile manufacturers, feeling the pinch of steadily-mounting production costs, increased their retail prices again today and trade quarters generally believe similar advances are in the making throughout most of the remainder of the industry.

Packard, which so far this year has failed to make a profit on its operations, increased prices on its various models from $92 to $200; Kaiser-Frazer, which has just emerged from the "red," implemented an increase of $99 on its Frazier standard model.

A week ago General Motors increased retail car prices from $57 to $168.

Ford Closes Plants

And while prices to the new car buyer continued to move upward, production got another blow as Ford closed down its plants tonight until next Tuesday. The Ford shutdown meant a loss of three working days' output, or a little more than 9,000 passenger cars, and idled about 51,000 hourly-rated employes. The halting of the Ford assembly lines was attributed to materials shortages.

Meanwhile work suspension in other plants, attributed mainly or indirectly to the intense heat, made approximately 27,000 more auto workers idle in the Detroit area today. Chiefly affected were 9,500 workers in four Briggs Manufacturing Company plants, and about 16,600 Chrysler Corporation employes, whose work material was cut off by the Briggs suspension.

Third Packard Hike Of Year

Packard's price increase was the third upward revision by that company so far this year. On January 7, it announced a "weighted average increase of $62 per car after allowing for a spare tire now being shipped as standard equipment." On May 14, increases ranging from $75 to $224 were made effective.

Also on May 14, Kaiser-Frazer upped the price of its Frazer standard model $139 and its Kaiser Special $124. W. A. MacDonald, Kaiser-Frazer vice president in charge of sales, said the company had no present plans to increase the price of its Kaiser Special or Frazer Manhattan models at this time.

Truman Vetoes 7 Bills, OKs 6; Raps Congress

Science Foundation Measure Is Killed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — President Truman today vetoed legislation for a national science foundation, along with seven other bills, and took Congress to task for what he termed a proposed infringement on the powers of the President.

Mr. Truman also chided Congress for passing a measure which, he said, "restricts and narrows coverage of our Social Security law, while our objective should be to enlarge that coverage."

That bill, which he vetoed, would have relieved certain vendors of newspapers and magazines and their employers from paying Social Security taxes.

Working at high speed, Mr. Truman cleared away 18 of 30 bills still hanging fire from the last session of Congress.

Signs Pay Tax Freeze Bill

Among the 10 signed was a measure freezing the Social Security payroll tax for another two years at one per cent on employes' pay and employers' payrolls. Otherwise the tax would automatically have jumped to 2.5 per cent against both employe and employer next January 1.

The eight bills killed met "pocket vetoes"—the President will leave them unsigned and thus, with Congress in recess, they will die. Most of them were of minor significance. Mr. Truman issued statements explaining the reasons for his disapproval.

He expressed "deep regret" at killing the science foundation measure. It would have created a 24-member committee of scientists, appointed by the President, to control the expenditure of millions of dollars annually for research into defense and health problems. No money was actually appropriated under it.

Unsound Principles

The scientists themselves would have appointed a chief executive officer to direct actual operations of the foundation. They would also have been authorized to set up an unlimited number of divisions for the various branches of science and research, as well as appoint numerous commissions.

Declaring that the bill contains provisions representing "a marked departure from sound principles for the administration of public affairs," Mr. Truman made these salient objections:

1. "Aside from the conflicts and confusions which would result from this complex organization, the bill would violate basic principles which make for responsible government."

2. It "represents a substantial denial of the President's appointing power, as well as an impairment of his ability to see that the laws are faithfully executied."

3. "There would be no means for insuring responsible administration of the law."

British War Bride Is Flying Home To Die

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Aug. 6—(AP)—A British war bride, unaware that doctors say she will die of cancer in a few months, tonight was happily winging homeward across the Atlantic in an Army transport plane.

The former Nina Maude Willgrass, of Norwich, England, now the wife of an American Air Forces veteran, took off late today for Frankfurt, Germany, with her husband, Charles Billie Delcoure, 23-year-old Magnolia, Tex., sawmill worker, and their four-month-old daughter, Carol.

Government officials arranged to have the family board the plane this afternoon when crowded Transatlantic schedules threatened to halt their trip until Monday.

Harriet Elliott Dies

CARBONDALE, Ill., Aug. 6 (AP) —Miss Harriet Elliott, 63, dean of women and professor of political science at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina, died today. She was a prominent Democrat and served on several public service committees under the administration of the late President Roosevelt.

BREWSTER TESTIFIES—Howard Hughes (center) and his attorney, Thomas Slack (right), confer as Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me) testifies before the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee. Brewster denied that he offered to call off a war plane contract investigation if Hughes would merge Trans World Airline with Pan American.

Hardship Regime For Britain Laid Down By Attlee

Loan Modification Talks Announced

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee disclosed today that Britain's borrowed dollars were running out at the rate of $3,240,000,000 a year and laid down a program of military retrenchment, spartan hardship, "limited" labor controls and "some sacrifice" of personal liberty as the price this country must pay to survive."

The Labor Prime Minister spoke in sombre tones to a packed House of Commons while outside the Houses of Parliament and No. 10 Downing Street unsmiling crowds, like those which gathered in the crisis days before the war, waited to hear what new sacrifices would be demanded in Britain's economic plight.

Most of the little man's worst fears were fulfilled.

Attlee told him the nation was engaged in a "second battle of Britain" which "cannot be won by a few."

He said there would be less food, less gasoline, less timber for new houses, less goods in the stores, perhap fewer Hollywood movie, longer hours of work.

He announced that United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall has agreed to high level negotiations on the "whole of the implications" of the fast-disappearing American loan of $3,750,000,000—which Britain had expected would last until 1950 but which Attlee said will be gone before the end of this year.

Marshall, Snyder Disagree

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall held out to the British today a guarded hope for American assistance in their economic crisis by some agreement under the Anglo-American loan pact which would lessen the drain on their dwindling dollar supply.

Marshall told a news conference it is his understanding that at least two provisions of the loan contract could be modified without congressional action. Those are the provisions under which Britain now has to buy from the United States without discriminating in favor of other suppliers, and has to convert pounds sterling paid out in other foreign markets into dollars on request.

The effect of modification apparently would be to allow the British to buy more needed supplies abroad with pounds which would not be wholly convertible and so conserve their dollars.

Even while Marshall was expressing his opinions to a news conference at the State Department, however, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder was telling other reporters at the Treasury Department that in his opinion modification of the year-old loan provisions would require congressional action. He said the United States has already taken those steps which it could without congressional action.

Truman Will Fly To Rio For Windup Of Treaty Parley

Warship Missouri To Bring Him Home

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — President Truman, in his role of good will ambassador, will fly to Rio De Janeiro for closing sessions of a defense conference of all 21 American republics.

The mighty battleship Missouri will be on hand to bring him home after a three-day visit to the Brazilian capital.

This third trip of the President to neighboring countries to bind stronger hemispheric ties will be made late this month or early September.

The White House disclosed the plans today in a brief announcement. Although it made no mention of the inter-American security meeting, the timing indicates that Mr. Truman will be there for the closing days. It opens August 15.

The conference is called to negotiate a treaty for mutual defense; to throw military resources of the America's back of any member invaded or threatened.

Enthusiastic receptions for the President in Mexico City last March and in Ottawa in June led to plans to make the visit to Rio De Janeiro at a time when he may visit with foreign ministers drawn there from the other neighbor countries for the meeting.

It was not stated whether Mrs. Truman will accompany the President, as had been reported, or whether he plans any stops on the way back.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross would not expand on the brief statement even to the point of saying whether Mr. Truman will address the conference.

USSR Atom Plan Rejected By U. S.

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 6 (AP) — The United States rejected today as "inadequate" and "wolly inacceptable" Soviet Russia's proposal for an international control commission for atomic energy.

This evoked a dramatic plea from Poland, which has stood alone with Russia in the long atomic negotiations, for understanding among the nations and a solemn statement that "we are talking about preventing atomic weapons and at the same time we are approaching step by step another conflict."

The developments came as the Political Committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission met under what Roland Liem, of China, called the "grim shadow" of Hiroshima. He noted that this was the second anniversary of the first use of the atomic bomb in war and said the delegates must prevent the "mass disaster" that would come from an atomic war.

Did Not Offer To Halt Probe, Senator Says

Admits That Airline Merger Discussed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 — (AP) — Millionaire Howard Hughes and Sen. Brewster (R-Me.) put under oath today a charge and denial that the Senator offered to call off a war plane contract investigation if Hughes would merge Trans World Airline with Pan American Airways.

They gave their squarely contradictory testimony at a tense hearing of a Senate War Investigating Subcommittee.

Hughes accused the committee of applying "the screws" to him.

Brewster said attempts had been made to "trap" him into preventing a full investigation of Hughes' contracts with the government.

Hughes controls TWA. Brewster, chairman of the investigating committee, has denied any connection with Pan American.

Under investigation by the subcommittee are $40,000,000 of wartime plane contracts the government gave Hughes and Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser.

Putting On "The Screws"

Hughes said "I charge specifically" that at a luncheon in the Brewster suite in the Mayflower Hotel here last February:

"The Senator in so many words told me that the hearings need not go on if I agreed to merge the TWA with Pan American and to go along with the bill for a single overseas airline."

After he refused to go through with a merger, he said, he interpreted the timing of the subsequent dispatch of Committee Investigator Francis Flanagan to the West Coast as putting on "the screws."

Brewster flatly said it wasn't so that he ever offered to halt the inquiry now in progress—"I can assure you that I never did."

His voice broke with emotion as he testified that as early as last April 16, an effort was made to lay the groundwork for a charge of his proposing to stop the inquiry if the airline merger went through.

Preliminary inquiries were under way then into the affairs of Hughes' companies, he said. And he went on:

Hugh Fulton, once the chief committee counsel, saw George Meader, who at that time was chief counsel. Fulton suggested that Meader withhold any recommendation on continuing or dropping the inquiry but "leave that decision entirely to Sen. Brewster."

"If that statement of Mr. Meader is accurate," Brewster said, "it certainly reveals pretty accurately the trap that they were seeking to lay for me."

Twice Discussed Merger

Brewster acknowledged he had twice discussed with Hughes a possible merger of TWA and Pan American.

Once, he said, was when he entertained the tool, movie and plane manufacturer in his hotel apartment here last February. The other, he added, was in a transcontinental telephone call in March.

But of Hughes' declaration that he offered to cancel the hearings in exchange for the merger, the Senator said he "never did"; that th proposition "sounds more like Hollywood than it does Washington."

Hughes and Brewster alternated

Chile Senator, Woman Killed In Auto Crash

RICHMOND, Ky., Aug. 6 (AP) — Diego Echnique, 47, a Senator from Chile, and a woman riding with him were killed late today when their automobile collided with a farm truck near Richmond.

The Kentucky Highway Patrol office here said Echenique carried many government papers identifying him with diplomatic business, including one authorizing his admission to the United Nations chambers.

A daughter of the woman suffered injuries which hospital authorities said were not believed to be serious.

The woman and the daughter were identified by passports as Mrs. Elvira Valde's De Echeverria, 38, and Sonia Echeverria, 17, who, like Senator Echenique, were from Santiago.

Rapist Attempts Courtroom Escape After Drawing 440-Year Sentence

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6 (AP) — Frank S. Avilez, 26, known as the "Black Gloved Rapist," made a wild attempt to escape from a courtroom today after being sentenced to 440 years in prison on rape, robbery and burglary charges.

Six policemen finally were able to control the tall, rangy prisoner.

Avilez had stood for two hours before Superior Judge Melvin Cronin while being sentenced individually on seven counts of rape, four attempted rapes, one assault, 10 burglaries and 10 robberies.

All this time he stood quietly, handcuffed to Bailiff Frank Burns.

"How a man could conduct himself like that is beyond me," Judge Cronin concluded. "I think that is all."

Bailiff Burns turned to take his prisoner to the jail, a camera-man's flash bulb flared. Avilez pulled the deputy around, kicked at the photographer, and then lunged at two deputies.

Six officers finally got Avilez down and were able to hold him. A lamp was knocked over and crashed to the floor. Avilez's mother, his wife and two sisters screamed at him to be quiet.

Still fighting like a tiger, he was controlled only after his hands had been cuffed behind his back and leg irons were applied. Then he was carried up to the jail.

Heat Wave Claims 61 Lives; Relief Hopes Dim

[By The Associated Press]

A four-day siege of 100 degree heat, mostly in the midwestern states, brought death to at least 61 persons by Wednesday night and hopes for quick relief were dimmed when a promised cool air mass from Canada weakened before spreading through the area.

The cool air spread slowly into the Great Plains States, Northwest Wisconsin, Upper Michigan, West and Central Iowa and Minnesota. Federal forecasters said it would drop temperatures only slightly Thursday in the northern belt of the midwest.

Elsewhere in the nation, seasonal weather prevailed Wednesday. The East Coast and southeastern states had 85 to 90 degree temperatures, and the desert areas of the far Southwest had their usual above 100 readings.

Subject Of Bonus Expected To Be Placed Before Legion Convention

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6—(AP)—Although the Maryland American Legion defeated a resolution a year ago calling for a state bonus for veterans of World War II, the subject is expected to be placed before the state department again at its annual convention which opened tonight.

Samuel J. Cohen, Hagerstown, one of three candidates for department commander, disclosed today that 19 posts in the Western Maryland District had approved the state bonus resolution. The posts are in Frederick, Carroll and Washington counties. No amount was specified.

Cohen said that this resolution, and another approved by the 19 posts urging a federal pension for World War I veterans at the age of 60, would be reported to the five-day state meeting.

The incumbent commander, John F. Boschen, Baltimore, said the Legion defeated the bonus proposal resolution 90-10 at its 1946 state meeting in Cumberland.

Contests of every description will mark this 29th annual convention.

A city-wide contest for hotel rooms or other quarters already was on.

The battle for rooms started early this morning as the vanguard of 15,000 Legionnaires and their wives arrived to find most mid-town hostelries stretching their capacities to the utmost.

Not the least in the series of competitions will be the election of state officers, which will close the convention Sunday morning.

Joint meeting of the Legion and its ladies auxiliary opened the convention.

Athey, 106 Arch Street, to use Lot 12 on the northeast corner of Laing Avenue and Springdale Street for the purpose of erecting a building to be used as a garage and for storage in connection with a service station at Laing and Virginia Avenues.

The lot is located in a Residential B section and Athey has taken an appeal to the Board of Zoning Appeals. The lot was recently purchased by Athey from the city.

Athey proposes to erect a one-story 50 by 30-foot building of concrete block with a built up roof.

Seaman Wants To Marry Girl He Smuggled To U. S.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6 (AP) —A 57-year-old merchant seaman declared in federal court today he wants to marry the 24-year-old German girl he brought to this country by dressing her in seaman's dungarees and hiding her in his cabin.

Walter Le Roy Strange, Portland, Ore., ship's cook and baker, pleaded no contest to the charge of aiding the illegal entry of blonde Francesca Vanden-Bruch to this country.

The girl served with the German Army Women's Auxiliary Corps in the war.

Federal Judge Frederick Follmer deferred sentence until he gets a pre-sentence report from the federal immigration authorities who are holding the German girl for deportation.

And just before the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), stopped the show for the day, Hughes said he wants to fire "200 to 500" questions at Brewster. The hearings resume tomorrow morning.

Ferguson had announced that Hughes and Brewster would have equal privileges but that neither would be accorded the right of cross examination. If they want to ask questions, he said, it must be done through committee members.

Brewster testified it was Hughes who brought up the question of a TWA-Pan American merger when they were together at the Senator's hotel apartment last February.

Impatient Passenger Takes Over Stalled Bus

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6—(AP)—An impatient passenger took over a stalled bus crowded with passengers, drove it three miles across the city and then abandoned it with its riders still aboard.

The unidentified driver started the bus, which had broken down, while its regular driver, Pasquale Juliano, went to a nearby telephone to call for a repair truck. As Juliano headed back to the bus it started off in a burst of speed with about 40 homeward bound passengers.

The riders were unable to identify the man.

Republican Budget Record Is Best In Twenty Years

As the first session of the Eightieth Congress recedes from immediate public attention, there looms into view like a monument a remarkable thing for which its leaders have not yet made adequate claim to the credit. Though the Republican Party had been in the minority there for 16 years, it resumed control with such energy and purpose as to make the biggest cut in expenses, compared to White House estimates, since the present budget system was established in 1923.

Since then there have been 20 fiscal years of peacetime operation. In 10 of these years a Democratic Congress raised the presidential budget; in the other ten years it made minor cuts, the largest being in 1934 when $380,000,000 was lopped from a budget of $8,261,000,000, or 4½ per cent. The present Congress, dealing with appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1947, is conceded by Representative Cannon, ranking Democrat on the House Appropriation Committee, to have saved $2,207,000,000 on the Truman budget estimate of $37,500,000,000, which is a cut of about 6 per cent. But Representative Taber, Republican chairman of the committee, asserts that final figures will showing a saving of $2,806,000,000, or 7½ per cent. Including also $1,617,000,000 in cancellations and recoveries, Taber estimates that the Treasury will be $4,423,000,000 better off than if Congress had followed the President's estimates.

That would be nearly 12 per cent under the President's budget. Even if one accepts the figure conceded by Cannon, the new Republican Congress has bettered by 33 per cent the best saving record made by a Democratic Congress under the budget system.

The Republican majorities kept faith with the people, and every single one of the campaign promises of 1946 has been kept to the full extent of the power of Congress. The record thus made is an impressive one, and some of the legislation enacted can be counted upon to do much toward insuring a prosperous and peaceful nation in the years ahead.

But, more important than the specific legislative enactments is the fact that this Congress has restored the faith of the American people in the integrity of their government. The people know now that when the Republican Party makes a promise it keeps that promise. The establishment of that fact is one of the most important steps which could be taken toward repairing the damage done to the basic fabric of our system of government by the now discredited New Deal. It is literally impossible to estimate the extent of that damage.

City Loses Useful Citizen, Dental Profession A Leader

The death of Dr. Arthur P. Dixon came as a distinct shock to his family, his wide circle of friends both in Cumberland and throughout the state of Maryland and to his patients of many years.

Dr. Dixon's death was unexpected because those of his household and close associates had believed he was making a steady recovery from a heart ailment suffered several months ago.

Dr. Dixon was not only a practitioner of high rank in the dental profession but he was prominent in the affairs of the community, lending a hand in whatever worthy cause brought to his attention without fanfare.

He was a devotee of healthful sports, and enjoyed outdoor activities, especially that of hunting, devoting part of his leisure time to excursions into field of waterfowl, with duck hunting one of his major delights. Because of that he was a prominent member of the Duck Busters' Club, an organization of duck hunters which held get-together dinners annually to feast on the game that had fallen before the guns of its members during the season.

Dr. Dixon's high qualities of mind and character served to make him a companionable personality both to his friends beyond the scope of his profession and his patients who found in him a man intensely interested at all times, not only in bringing to them relief from pain, but in their general welfare.

The city has lost a useful citizen and the dental profession one of its leaders. We join with his family in mourning his death that came all too soon.

Cumberland Has Enjoyed Delightful Summer Climate

We really feel sorry for all the Cumberlanders who went away in July to escape the heat. There wasn't any to speak of. In fact the month which ended six days ago gave this city, and for that matter, most of the adjacent sections of Allegany county far better weather than most Summer resorts, where, in some instances, the temperature was downright chilly.

July really was unusual as far as figures are concerned. It was 3.8 degrees cooler than normal, which certainly is a lot for mid-Summer. The cool weather was magnified, so to speak, because the temperature in daytime didn't get too high. There were only a few days when the mercury climbed into the nineties, and that is odd for a month which thinks nothing of searing Cumberland with 100-degree heat, and even higher temperatures.

What is more, the nights were generally cool, and on several occasions the mercury dropped to a point (as low as 45 degrees, once) to necessitate the dragging of blankets from their mothball-laden Summer concealment. But whereas July often has hot nights and then occasional very cool ones to bring the average down, this July, except for the chilly exceptions cited, usually plugged along with night temperatures between 45 and 70 degrees.

Then there was plenty of rain. The fact that the rainfall was 1.05 inches above normal of 4.32 inches that there were a lot of cloudy and partly clouded days to help keep the temperature down.

So, all in all, Cumberland and her neighboring territory really got a break during July. The weather was pleasant and everybody, except the corn growers, who like hot weather for their crop, enjoyed it. If this sort of thing should become a habit with the weatherman, due to sunspots or something, Cumberland can start thinking about advertising itself as a Summer resort.

In a land of opportunity those who fail to succeed in making an honest living can become the champions of "minorities" and watch the mazuma roll in.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

TREATING A DROWNED PERSON

THE death by drowning of 7,000 or more persons each year puts a damper on one of our favorite pastimes—swimming. These catastrophes stress the importance of learning to swim. All too often, the ability to handle oneself well in the water means the difference between life and death. Approximatly four out of every five persons who die in this fashion are nonswimmers or poor ones. Some have learned the strokes but attempts feats beyond their control.

Many fall out of boats or trees or off bridges or piers. Children must be watched carefully as water is as tempting to the small fry as is fire. If a boat trip or an outing near a lake is contemplated, they should wear life preservers to keep them afloat until rescued. Education in safety measures must continue and well supervised beaches are part of this program.

In case of drowning, every effort must be made to save the life of the victim. Needless to say, only good swimmers should jump into the water in a rescue attempt. Many double tragedies occur in this manner. Sometimes a rope or large board will be useful until expert help arrives.

Should the individual be unconscious, artificial respiration is necessary unless a pulmoter s available. The Schafer prone pressure method has been used for many years and is recommended by the Red Cross. Its main advantage is that no equipment is needed and resuscitation can begin immediately. Practically everybody has learned the procedure at some time or another. It requires rhythimic pressure on each side of the thoracic cage, simulating respiration.

There is some controversy as to the efficacy of the plan. Those who rely upon the technic have demonstrated that it is capable of maintaining a good respiratory cycle on subjects who voluntarily suspended breathing. The opponents, on the other hand, claim that this does not take place in persons who are in a coma or not breathing because they are fully relaxed and the muscles of the respiratory tract have lost their tone. Studies on cadavers have shown this to be true. Pressure causes some air to leave but since the elastic recoil is lacking, little enters the lungs.

The British navy experimented with the Eve tilting or gravity plan and found the results encouraging. It should overcome some of the objections to the Shafer method, inasmuch as relaxation and loss of muscle tone are not factors in its success. But a small amount of equipment is essential, and preparation of the setup may cause the loss of precious time.

The sufferer is placed on a wide board, about 7 feet long, which rests on a carpenter's horse. He is then rocked in seesaw fashion. When the head is down, air is pushed out of the chest; with the feet low, air rushes into the lung cavity.

(Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on artificial respiration.)

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

You can never tell what a woman will do. In fact, the female set in Phoenix, Ariz., has done something that women just don't do—they've rebelled against the latest clothing fashion—longer skirts. They insist upon wearing short skirts in Arizona and all I can say is "go west, young man."

They've even formed a club called "The Western Women's Society for the Preservation of Short Skirts." Something like the Elks, only with cheesecake. We actors have our "Lambs Club"—these girls have their "Limbs Club." It's understandable. Western women are used to showing their calves.

But the girls seem to have a point there. They say that long skirts pick up dust and very few men. Personally, I don't care what happens, just so long as they don't wear slacks.

If women start ignoring the fashions it will be terrible. The first thing you know they'll start wearing hats that make sense, and Carmen Miranda's chapeaux will all have to go back to being rabbit's food.

And if the younger set rebels also and changes its fashion, Sinatra won't be able to figure out how many fans he has. He'll no longer be able to figure it out in the old way—counting sox and dividing by two.

To make a long story short—and skirts, too,—I wish the girls all the luck in the world.

NOBODY SEEMS TO WANT TO BE THE GOAT

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Pan-American Airways Official Spent $49,928 For "Personal" Expenses In A Year; Lobbying By Airlines Paid By Taxpayers Through Air Mail Subsidies

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—Senator Brewster's War Investigating Committee has performed a healthy service in showing how Howard Hughes' aide spent $5,083 entertaining Elliott Roosevelt. This is something the public is entitled to know about.

However, the public is also entitled to know about all the lavish entertainment poured out by other big airplane companies—when that entertainment was deducted from the taxpayers' money. And if you take the $5,083 spent on Elliott Roosevelt and stack it alongside what the taxpayed shelled out for "entertainment" by Pan American Airways, it makes Elliott's entertainment look like chicken feed.

For instance, here is the expense account of Pan American's senior vice-president, Robert G. Thach, as noted in an official report of the Civil Aeronautics Board: "Meals for himself and others, $10,208.30 in 1938."

Ten thousand dollars is a lot to spend for meals alone in one year. And Mr. Thach had other expenses that year which totaled $49,028.24. These he listed as "Laundry, sightseeing, deck chairs, club dues, doctors, nurses," and various other things. His bill for long-distance telephoning alone in 1938 was $10,334.25.

However, the year 1938 was not out of line with other years for Mr. Thach. The Civil Aeronautics Board, examining the accounts of Pan American Airways, made this official and critical comment:

"When during a 30-month period, expense vouchers totalling $100,000 exclusive of salary, are approved for one officer (Thach) without investigation or inquiry by the company's chief accounting office, then such itmes would not be considered by the CAB in determining the 'need" of the carrier."

How the Public Pays

"Need," in this case, refers to Pan Am's need of air-mail subsidies. And the reason the CAB was examining Pan American's accounts was that the amount of its mail subsidy is determined in part by its expenses of operation. And what the American taxpayer doesn't generally realize is that the cost of the expensive lobby conducted by Pan American to influence Congress is largely paid for by the taxpayer himself through the air-mail subsidy. This is also true of other aviation companies, except that Pan American has received far more in air-mail subsidies than any other company, and also conducts one of the most far-flung and expensive lobbies in the history of government.

For instance, Pan American maintains three different offices in Washington, though it has no airline entering Washington. In addition, it has two secret hideaway spots in the Capital—all connected with lobbying.

One of these is a 10-room suite at 1815 15th Street, which has a private telephone line direct to Pan Am headquarters in New York. Then there is a confidential office at 1319 F Street operated by Bill McAvoy, Pan Am's suave publicity man and full-time lobbyist. Very few people know this office exists. Also, there is the official office at 1109 Connecticut Avenue. In addition, three rooms are always kept at the Mayflower Hotel, rooms 605, 621 and 743—available to Pan Am officials in case of sudden trips to Washington. Much of the time, however, they are vacant, thus adding to the crowded condition of Washington hotels.

Much of this eventually is paid out of the taxpayer's pocket.

Finally, there is Pan Am's colonial mansion at 2017 F Street where Pan Am President Juan Trippe entertains Congressmen and other big shots. Here a butler and maid are on constant duty, and when Trippe put on an especially big party, extra servants are brought in, sometimes from the White House staff. Rent for this colonial mansion is reported to be $800 a month.

Pan Am's Airplane Junkets

Then ther are the special Pan American facilities at the National Airport where two private planes are kept, the NC4000 and the 400W. It is these planes which have flown Senator Brewster on various trips—up to his home in Maine, and once to Hobe Sound, Florida, where Sam Pryor, vice president of Pan American, maintains his winter home. Mr. Pryor, former Republican National Committeeman from Connecticut, is one of the ablest lobbyists in the Capital and handles Pan Am's most difficult jobs.

It is Senator Brewster who has been charged by Howard Hughes with investigating him because he refused to take Brewster's suggestion that Hughes' Trans World Airline amalgamate with Pan American.

It was Senator Brewster who flew to Raleigh, N. C., last year to visit ailing Senator Bailey of North Carolina, then Chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, to urge his support of the "one company" idea for American airlines overseas. The "one company" plan is urged by Pan American to fly all foreign routes, as against the American system of free competition, favored by other companies.

Incidentally, when Brewster flew to see Sen. Bailey in Raleigh, Jack Frye, then president of Trans World Airline, learned of the flight; and, getting ex-Senator Bennett Clark out of bed in Kansas City, persuaded him to phone Senator Bailey long distance not to side with Brewster in favor of the "one company" bill.

Brewster's plane was delayed about fifteen minutes in reaching Raleigh, which permitted Clark's phone call to come through and persuade Bailey not to go along with Brewster. This was probably the chief reason why the "one company" bill never passed the 79th Congress.

It was also one of Pan Am's special planes which carried A. F. Whiney of the railroad trainmen and Alvanley Johnston of the locomotive engineers on a trip from Cleveland last year at the time the two brotherhood leaders came out for the "one company" bill.

Discussion Begins To Seethe In U. S. Over Britain's Plight

By MARK SULLIVAN

Exactly one year and three weeks ago, on July 15th last year, our government made a grant to Britain—the amount was three and three-quarter billion dollars. Today we are told that Britain needs more. About this, discussion begins to seethe in America.

Why? Why did the grant a year ago turn out to be not enough? About this there is sour debate in Britain, including recrimination. Conservative party leader Winston Churchill puts blame on the Labor government, charges they were spending the money unwisely. No doubt there is much basis for this. Some additional reasons have to do with the state of the world in general.

One reason comes straight home to us, in large part we are directly responsible for it. It is the same reason any American citizen finds his income of a year ago not now enough. This reason for the present inadequacy of our grant to Britain can be found in a single statistic.

Statistic Is About Wheat

The statistic is about wheat. Wheat is one of the commodities Britain buys from us. Similar statistics apply to all the commodities Britain buys from us, to commodities generally.

On the day we made the grant to Britain, the price of wheat was $1.87 a bushel. During the year since, the price has gone as high as $2.44, and is today $2.14. (Department of Agriculture figures of average prices received by farmers for all varieties of wheat.)

To grasp the effect of this, read it in figures which, while not actual are illustrative and as such tell the story. When we granted three and three-quarter billion dollars to Britain, we in effect granted her say two billion bushels of wheat. But it turned out that the grant was only about one and one-half billion bushels. In tons of wheat and also other goods, our grant was reduced much below what in dollars it seemed to be.

This has gone on as respects practically all the commodities Britain has been buying from us. An example took place this month. Britain buys steel from us, and the price of steel was increased some $5 to $10 a ton. On all the commodities Britain buys from us, the average increase in prices since she got the grant from us is 40 per cent.

To the extent that we have been responsible for this, we have not actually granted to Britain what the grant when made purported to be. Actually we have been quite largely responsible, through our government and otherwise, for increases in prices which followed increases in wages, and for high prices otherwise brought about, including prices of some farm commodities. The problems raised for us by the present plight of Britain are in large part problems of our own making, created by policies and practices we have followed.

Even had prices remained at their level of the time the grant was made, the amount would have been barely enough. At the time of the negotiations between our representatives and those of Britain, the amount considered desirable was 6 billion dollars. It was made 3¾ billion mainly because it was felt that this was as much as Congress would be willing to grant. Nothing was said officially about the length of time for which this would be sufficient; but it is safe to say that everybody concerned thought the grant would meet Britain's needs for a much longer time than the year and 3 weeks that has now elapsed. Indeed the assumption was it would be permanently enough, Britain undertook to begin repayment in 1951.

Not Looked Upon As Grant

This is spoken of as a grant to Britain. But it was not looked upon at the time as merely a grant to Britain, and in fact has not been merely that. The grant was made because of the state of the world, and for the purpose of bringing about recovery of the world.

Before the war there had been 4 nations producing most of the goods for the world's international trade—the United States, Britain, Germany and Japan. In two of these the war had reduced productivity to almost nothing, and international trade to literally nothing. If the world was to be restored economically it must be done by Britain and the United States.

Britain was especially important, because of the very large part it had always had in international trade. Our grant to Britain was made in order to enable it to restore itself to again taking a large part in international trade. Actually much of the grant we made to Britain has been used for the direct purpose of increasing international trade. For this purpose Britain has extended credit of upward of a billion dollars to other countries, to France alone upward of half a billion.

If we are still interested in restoring the world economically, we are still interested in preventing collapse of Britain. One result of British collapse would be a direct and immediate cost to us. Britain has used much of our grant to her in order to help feed Germany and for occupation expenses. If Britain should collapse, she might be unable to continue this.

New Labor Law Makes Possible Constructive Labor Agreement

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—Viewed in the broad perspective of gain or loss to the cause of industrial peace, the Ford Motor Car Company by its new contract with the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) has accomplished constructively what never would have been possible without the Taft-Hartley law.

Instead of a capitulation or surrender to a union demand, as some of the first published reports indicated, the Ford Company has, in fact, obtained an assurance against illegal or wildcat strikes which in some respects is more solidly buttressed than any that could have been obtained by reliance solely on the damage provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

For the Ford Company obtained from the union a clause in the new contract by which the union binds itself not to sue the employer for a period of two years — that is during the life of the entire contract. In return for this, the company agreed to what amounts to a six-month probationary clause during which the union must be on good behavior with respect to wildcat strikes or else suits for damages will follow immediately after the expiration of the six months.

This probationary period results from the fact that after six months there can be an extension of the period needed for study of a solution if a majority of the committee—namely the neutral umpire and the two company representatives or the neutral umpire and the two union representatives—vote for such an extension.

Wildcat Strikes Is Bar

If wildcat strikes and work stoppages have occurred during the first six months, this evidence will be ample to prevent any extention of the period of immunity from damage suits that can be filed by the employer. It is stipulated, however, that future suits must relate only to those work stoppages occurring after the first six months in the event that the committee on study is not given an extension.

In addition, the union has already agreed with the Ford Company to a clause in the new contract whereby the union promises to employ its best efforts from now on to prevent wildcat strikes and to accept its disciplinary discharge of all member participants. Discharges occur after an agreed-upin procedure.

Thus, in effect, the Ford Motor Car Company has put the union on notice against unauthorized work stoppages which are so costly to production. The company, moreover, cannot agree to exempt the union from injunctive processes which the National Labor Board may take against any union which permits or authorizes a wildcat strike. Such action can be taken at any time that a contract is violated, irrespective of the damage-suit immunity agreed upon by the parties.

To the extent that the Ford Company refrains from pressing any damage suits during the first six months or any extension of that period, is this a surrender of principle? The answer lies in the fact that the Taft-Hartley law does not obligate the company or a union to file damage suits. This is purely discretionary with either side. Suits could have been filed even before the Taft-Hartley law was passed, but there were technical difficulties in certain states and a union as an entity could not be sued.

There is no good reason why a union and an employer should resort to the law courts with damage suits if, for fixed periods, they can agree to pursue a course of conduct in good faith looking toward prevention of law violations or toward minimizing work stoppages.

Taft-Hartley Bill Credited

Without the Taft-Hartley law, however, there was no such leverage to the employer to enable him to secure pledges and commitments against a wildcat strike or unauthorized work stoppage. In the sense that the Taft-Hartley law has proved directly instrumental in obtaining these pledges of forbearance and since any violations can be taken care of by disciplinary action, agreed upon in advance by the company and the union, it may be that the Ford Motor Car Company has blazed a trail of guidance for other employers similarly situated. The broad purpose of industrial peace. If the Taft-Hartley law induces the adoption of a formula having industrial peace as its objective, the law may be said already to have achieved a victory over its predecessor. What would be wrong indeed would be a grant of immunity from suit to either side without a corresponding assurance of a fair procedure to eliminate unauthorized stoppages.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

ON BIAS

OCCASIONALLY this, as every other, writer is accused of bias. Some choose to deny the allegation. They contend that by some divine dispensation they are relieved of the human traits of prejudice, partisanship, belief and bias. They assume that they are capable of having an open mind on all subjects, which is tantamount to having no mind at all.

For the characteristic of an active mind is mingling knowledge with experience to form a judgment. We need not hold a fixed judgment on all questions, particularly upon those we know nothing about. For instance, few of us can have any judgment at all on the value of plutonium as we know nothing about this element except that it has been brought into existence in connection with the atom bomb.

Some matters are not related to knowledge and experience but are based on faith. Such fields of human decision are not matters of judgment but of belief, even of blind prejudice. I, for instance, choose irrevocably to accept the existence of a Divine Power, of God. I choose to believe that it was His decision that made man different from all else in nature at creation and gave to man the capacities of will and choice. My bias in this respect is beyond discussion. I choose to have a closed mind. I choose to be prejudiced.

On the other hand, in political matters, each man's accumulation of knowledge and experience indicates a course. Those who reach mature years and are still unable to reach a decision suffer from confusions which, in this era of misnomers, is called liberalism. They are like willows which not only move with the wind but bend to it. They are like tumble weeds which are blown hither and yon. Decision is impossible for them; rather, they seek popular acclaim, the voice of the many. They lean upon slogans and shift with changing polls. They are the kind who one moment shout: "All Hail! The King!," and the next: "Off with his head!"

Bias is not an unworthy attribute because it is a mark of decision, of judgment, of faith, of an assumption of responsibility. Of course, bias may become pigheadedness as when the son votes a political party because his father and grandfather voted that way. Bias may become evil prejudice as when a man hates another man because of race or color or geographical distribution.

But then hate itself is immoral under any circumstances and immorality is indefensible. Within the realm of moral law, man possesses the capacities of will and choice and judgment and these represent human liberty and dignity.

At the present time, in all the world, governments and controlling political parties attack bias and prejudice and partisanship with the object of repressing the will of man. They would prefer to turn the human race into robots, into unthinking, unbelieving instruments of production, manipulated by those who have seized and hold the power of the State.

Curiously enough, many intellectuals, professors in universities, writers, journalists prefer this way of life, for, granted security as long as they obey the masters, they need no judgments of their own. They belong to the ruling class as the intellectual slaves of Greece did by serving those who owned their bodies and used their minds. Aesop was such a slave. Does it matter who owned him?

A free press is a biased press. The non-partisan press evades the responsibility of judgment. The free press exists in very few countries because in most of the world today private judgment is not tolerated. Only those may use their judgment who belong to the ruling class that has seized the power of the State. In the United States, a tendency toward an unbiassed, non-partisan, open-minded press is creeping upon us. It is a definite menace, for soon controversy wil be replaced by obedience; frank discussion by accepted authority.

The OWI tried to achieve that during the war. Pressure groups, particularly on the Left, especially representing racial and religious controversies, tried to force the press to conform to their agitations. We have survived that — principally by preserving our right to bias and prejudice; that is, to free judgment.

Republican Budget Record Is Best In Twenty Years

As the first session of the Eightieth Congress recedes from immediate public attention, there looms into view like a monument a remarkable thing for which its leaders have not yet made adequate claim to the credit. Though the Republican Party had been in the minority there for 16 years, it resumed control with such energy and purpose as to make the biggest cut in expenses, compared to White House estimates, since the present budget system was established in 1923.

Since then there have been 20 fiscal years of peacetime operation. In 10 of these years a Democratic Congress raised the presidential budget; in the other ten years it made minor cuts, the largest being in 1934 when $380,000,000 was lopped from a budget of $8,261,000,000, or 4½ per cent. The present Congress, dealing with appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1947, is conceded by Representative Cannon, ranking Democrat on the House Appropriation Committee, to have saved $2,207,000,000 on the Truman budget estimate of $37,500,000,000, which is a cut of about 6 per cent. But Representative Taber, Republican chairman of the committee, asserts that final figures will showing a saving of $2,806,000,000, or 7½ per cent. Including also $1,617,000,000 in cancellations and recoveries, Taber estimates that the Treasury will be $4,423,000,000 better off than if Congress had followed the President's estimates.

That would be nearly 12 per cent under the President's budget. Even if one accepts the figure conceded by Cannon, the new Republican Congress has bettered by 33 per cent the best saving record made by a Democratic Congress under the budget system.

The Republican majorities kept faith with the people, and every single one of the campaign promises of 1946 has been kept to the full extent of the power of Congress. The record thus made is an impressive one, and some of the legislation enacted can be counted upon to do much toward insuring a prosperous and peaceful nation in the years ahead.

But, more important than the specific legislative enactments is the fact that this Congress has restored the faith of the American people in the integrity of their government. The people know now that when the Republican Party makes a promise it keeps that promise. The establishment of that fact is one of the most important steps which could be taken toward repairing the damage done to the basic fabric of our system of government by the now discredited New Deal. It is literally impossible to estimate the extent of that damage.

City Loses Useful Citizen, Dental Profession A Leader

The death of Dr. Arthur P. Dixon came as a distinct shock to his family, his wide circle of friends both in Cumberland and throughout the state of Maryland and to his patients of many years.

Dr. Dixon's death was unexpected because those of his household and close associates had believed he was making a steady recovery from a heart ailment suffered several months ago.

Dr. Dixon was not only a practitioner of high rank in the dental profession but he was prominent in the affairs of the community, lending a hand in whatever worthy cause brought to his attention without fanfare.

He was a devotee of healthful sports, and enjoyed outdoor activities, especially that of hunting, devoting part of his leisure time to excursions into field of waterfowl. with duck hunting one of his major delights. Because of that he was a prominent member of the Duck Busters' Club, an organization of duck hunters which held get-together dinners annually to feast on the game that had fallen before the guns of its members during the season.

Dr. Dixon's high qualities of mind and character served to make him a companionable personality both to his friends beyond the scope of his profession and his patients who found in him a man intensely interested at all times, not only in bringing to them relief from pain, but in their general welfare.

The city has lost a useful citizen and the dental profession one of its leaders. We join with his family in mourning his death that came all too soon.

Cumberland Has Enjoyed Delightful Summer Climate

We really feel sorry for all the Cumberlanders who went away in July to escape the heat. There wasn't any to speak of. In fact the month which ended six days ago gave this city, and for that matter, most of the adjacent sections of Allegany county far better weather than most Summer resorts, where, in some instances, the temperature was downright chilly.

July really was unusual as far as figures are concerned. It was 3.8 degrees cooler than normal, which certainly is a lot for mid-Summer. The cool weather was magnified, so to speak, because the temperature in daytime didn't get too high. There were only a few days when the mercury climbed into the nineties, and that is odd for a month which thinks nothing of searing Cumberland with 100-degree heat, and even higher temperatures.

What is more, the nights were generally cool, and on several occasions the mercury dropped to a point (as low as 45 degrees, once) to necessitate the dragging of blankets from their mothball-laden Summer concealment. But whereas July often has hot nights and then occasional very cool ones to bring the average down, this July, except for the chilly exceptions cited, usually plugged along with night temperatures between 45 and 70 degrees.

Then there was plenty of rain. The fact that the rainfall was 1.05 inches above normal of 4.32 inches that there were a lot of cloudy and partly clouded days to help keep the temperature down.

So, all in all, Cumberland and her neighboring territory really got a break during July. The weather was pleasant and everybody, except the corn growers, who like hot weather for their crop, enjoyed it. If this sort of thing should become a habit with the weatherman, due to sunspots or something, Cumberland can start thinking about advertising itself as a Summer resort.

In a land of opportunity those who fail to succeed in making an honest living can become the champions of "minorities" and watch the mazuma roll in.

TREATING A DROWNED PERSON

THE death by drowning of 7,000 or more persons each year puts a damper on one of our favorite pastimes — swimming. These catastrophes stress the importance of learning to swim. All too often, the ability to handle oneself well in the water means the difference between life and death. Approximatly four out of every five persons who die in this fashion are nonswimmers or poor ones. Some have learned the strokes but attempts feats beyond their control.

Many fall out of boats or trees or off bridges or piers. Children must be watched carefully as water is as tempting to the small fry as is fire. If a boat trip or an outing near a lake is contemplated, they should wear life preservers to keep them afloat until rescued. Education in safety measures must continue and well supervised beaches are part of this program.

In case of drowning, every effort must be made to save the life of the victim. Needless to say, only good swimmers should jump into the water in a rescue attempt. Many double tragedies occur in this manner. Sometimes a rope or large board will be useful until expert help arrives.

Should the individual be unconscious, artificial respiration is necessary unless a pulmoter s available. The Schafer prone pressure method has been used for many years and is recommended by the Red Cross. Its main advantage is that no equipment is needed and resuscitation can begin immediately. Practically everybody has learned the procedure at some time or another. It requires rhythmic pressure on each side of the thoracic cage, simulating respiration.

There is some controversy as to the efficacy of the plan. Those who rely upon the technic have demonstrated that it is capable of maintaining a good respiratory cycle on subjects who voluntarily suspended breathing. The opponents, on the other hand, claim that this does not take place in persons who are in a coma or not breathing because they are fully relaxed and the muscles of the respiratory tract have lost their tone. Studies on cadavers have shown this to be true. Pressure causes some air to leave but since the elastic recoil is lacking, little enters the lungs.

The British navy experimented with the Eve tilting or gravity plan and found the results encouraging. It should overcome some of the objections to the Shafer method, inasmuch as relaxation and loss of muscle tone are not factors in its success. But a small amount of equipment is essential, and preparation of the setup may cause the loss of precious time.

The sufferer is placed on a wide board, about 7 feet long, which rests on a carpenter's horse. He is then rocked in seesaw fashion. When the head is down, air is pushed out of the chest; with the feet low, air rushes into the lung cavity.

(Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on artificial respiration.)

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

You can never tell what a woman will do. In fact, the female set in Phoenix, Ariz., has done something that women just don't do—they've rebelled against the latest clothing fashion—longer skirts. They insist upon wearing short skirts in Arizona and all I can say is "go west, young man."

They've even formed a club called "The Western Women's Society for the Preservation of Short Skirts." Something like the Elks, only with cheesecake. We actors have our "Lambs Club"—these girls have their "Limbs Club." It's understandable. Western women are used to showing their calves.

But the girls seem to have a point there. They say that long skirts pick up dust and very few men. Personally, I don't care what happens, just so long as they don't wear slacks.

If women start ignoring the fashions it will be terrible. The first thing you know they'll start wearing hats that make sense, and Carmen Miranda's chapeaux will all have to go back to being rabbit's food.

And if the younger set rebels also and changes its fashion, Sinatra won't be able to figure out how many fans he has. He'll no longer be able to figure it out in the old way—counting sox and dividing by two.

To make a long story short—and skirts, too,—I wish the girls all the luck in the world.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Pan-American Airways Official Spent $49,928 For "Personal" Expenses In A Year; Lobbying By Airlines Paid By Taxpayers Through Air Mail Subsidies

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—Senator Brewster's War Investigating Committee has performed a healthy service in showing how Howard Hughes' aide spent $5,083 entertaining Elliott Roosevelt. This is something the public is entitled to know about.

However, the public is also entitled to know about all the lavish entertainment poured out by other big airplane companies—when that entertainment was deducted from the taxpayers' money. And if you take the $5,083 spent on Elliott Roosevelt and stack it alongside what the taxpayed shelled out for "entertainment" by Pan American Airways, it makes Elliott's entertainment look like chicken feed.

For instance, here is the expense account of Pan American's senior vice-president, Robert G. Thach, as noted in an official report of the Civil Aeronautics Board: "Meals for himself and others, $10,208.30 in 1938."

Ten thousand dollars is a lot to spend for meals alone in one year. And Mr. Thach had other expenses that year which totaled $49,028.24. These he listed as "Laundry, sightseeing, deck chairs, club dues, doctors, nurses," and various other things. His bill for long-distance telephoning alone in 1938 was $10,334.25.

However, the year 1938 was not out of line with other years for Mr. Thach. The Civil Aeronautics Board, examining the accounts of Pan American Airways, made this official and critical comment:

"When during a 30-month period, expense vouchers totalling $100,000 exclusive of salary, are approved for one officer (Thach) without investigation or inquiry by the company's chief accounting office, then such itmes would not be considered by the CAB in determining the 'need" of the carrier."

How the Public Pays

"Need," in this case, refers to Pan Am's need of air-mail subsidies. And the reason the CAB was examining Pan American's accounts was that the amount of its mail subsidy is determined in part by its expenses of operation. And what the American taxpayer doesn't generally realize is that the cost of the expensive lobby conducted by Pan American to influence Congress is largely paid for by the taxpayer himself through the air-mail subsidy. This is also true of other aviation companies, except that Pan American has received far more in air-mail subsidies than any other company, and also conducts one of the most far-flung and expensive lobbies in the history of government.

For instance, Pan American maintains three different offices in Washington, though it has no airline entering Washington. In addition, it has two secret hideaway spots in the Capital—all connected with lobbying.

One of these is a 10-room suite at 1815 15th Street, which has a private telephone line direct to Pan Am headquarters in New York. Then there is a confidential office at 1319 F Street operated by Bill McAvoy, Pan Am's suave publicity man and full-time lobbyist. Very few people know this office exists. Also, there is the official office at 1109 Connecticut Avenue. In addition, three rooms are always kept at the Mayflower Hotel, rooms 605, 621 and 743—available to Pan Am officials in case of sudden trips to Washington. Much of the time, however, they are vacant, thus adding to the crowded condition of Washington hotels.

Much of this eventually is paid out of the taxpayer's pocket.

Finally, there is Pan Am's colonial mansion at 2017 F Street where Pan Am President Juan Trippe entertains Congressmen and other big shots. Here a butler and maid are on constant duty, and when Trippe put on an especially big party, extra servants are brought in, sometimes from the White House staff. Rent for this colonial mansion is reported to be $800 a month.

Pan Am's Airplane Junkets

Then ther are the special Pan American facilities at the National Airport where two private planes are kept, the NC4000 and the 400W. It is these planes which have flown Senator Brewster on various trips—up to his home in Maine, and once to Hobe Sound, Florida, where Sam Pryor, vice president of Pan American, maintains his winter home. Mr. Pryor, former Republican National Committeeman from Connecticut, is one of the ablest lobbyists in the Capital and handles Pan Am's most difficult jobs.

It is Senator Brewster who has been charged by Howard Hughes with investigating him because he refused to take Brewster's suggestion that Hughes' Trans World Airline amalgamate with Pan American.

It was Senator Brewster who flew to Raleigh, N. C., last year to visit ailing Senator Bailey of North Carolina, then Chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, to urge his support of the "one company" idea for American airlines overseas. The "one company" plan is urged by Pan American to fly all foreign routes, as against the American system of free competition, favored by other companies.

Incidentally, when Brewster flew to see Sen. Bailey in Raleigh, Jack Frye, then president of Trans World Airline, learned of the flight; and, getting ex-Senator Bennett Clark out of bed in Kansas City, persuaded him to phone Senator Bailey long distance not to side with Brewster in favor of the "one company" bill.

Brewster's plane was delayed about fifteen minutes in reaching Raleigh, which permitted Clark's phone call to come through and persuade Bailey not to go along with Brewster. This was probably the chief reason why the "one company" bill never passed the 79th Congress.

It was also one of Pan Am's special planes which carried A. P. Whiney of the railroad trainmen and Alvanley Johnston of the locomotive engineers on a trip from Cleveland last year at the time the two brotherhood leaders came out for the "one company" bill.

Discussion Begins To Seethe In U. S. Over Britain's Plight

By MARK SULLIVAN

Exactly one year and three weeks ago, on July 15th last year, our government made a grant to Britain—the amount was three and three-quarter billion dollars. Today we are told that Britain needs more. About this, discussion begins to seethe in America.

Why? Why did the grant a year ago turn out to be not enough? About this there is sour debate in Britain, including recrimination. Conservative party leader Winston Churchill puts blame on the Labor government, charges they were spending the money unwisely. No doubt there is much basis for this. Some additional reasons have to do with the state of the world in general.

One reason comes straight home to us, in large part we are directly responsible for it. It is the same reason any American citizen finds his income of a year ago not now enough. This reason for the present inadequacy of our grant to Britain can be found in a single statistic.

Statistic Is About Wheat

The statistic is about wheat. Wheat is one of the commodities Britain buys from us. Similar statistics apply to all the commodities Britain buys from us, to commodities generally.

On the day we made the grant to Britain, the price of wheat was $1.87 a bushel. During the year since, the price has gone as high as $2.44, and is today $2.14. (Department of Agriculture figures of average prices received by farmers for all varieties of wheat.)

To grasp the effect of this, read it in figures which, while not actual are illustrative and as such tell the story. When we granted three and three-quarter billion dollars to Britain, we in effect granted her say two billion bushels of wheat. But it turned out that the grant was only about one and one-half billion bushels. In tons of wheat and also other goods, our grant was reduced much below what in dollars it seemed to be.

This has gone on as respects practically all the commodities Britain has been buying from us. An example took place this month. Britain buys steel from us, and the price of steel was increased some $5 to $10 a ton. On all the commodities Britain buys from us, the average increase in prices since she got the grant from us is 40 per cent.

To the extent that we have been responsible for this, we have not actually granted to Britain what the grant when made purported to be. Actually we have been quite largely responsible, through our government and otherwise, for increases in prices which followed increases in wages, and for high prices otherwise brought about, including prices of some farm commodities. The problems raised for us by the present plight of Britain are in large part problems of our own making, created by policies and practices we have followed.

Even had prices remained at their level of the time the grant was made, the amount would have been barely enough. At the time of the negotiations between our representatives and those of Britain, the amount considered desirable was 6 billion dollars. It was made 3¾ billion mainly because it was felt that this was as much as Congress would be willing to grant. Nothing was said officially about the length of time for which this would be sufficient; but it is safe to say that everybody concerned thought the grant would meet Britain's needs for a much longer time than the year and 3 weeks that has now elapsed. Indeed the assumption was it would be permanently enough, Britain undertook to begin repayment in 1951.

Not Looked Upon As Grant

This is spoken of as a grant to Britain. But it was not looked upon at the time as merely a grant to Britain, and in fact has not been merely that. The grant was made because of the state of the world, and for the purpose of bringing about recovery of the world.

Before the war there had been 4 nations producing most of the goods for the world's international trade—the United States, Britain, Germany and Japan. In two of these the war had reduced productivity to almost nothing, and international trade to literally nothing. If the world was to be restored economically it must be done by Britain and the United States.

Britain was especially important, because of the very large part it had always had in international trade. Our grant to Britain was made in order to enable it to restore itself to again taking a large part in international trade. Actually much of the grant we made to Britain has been used for the direct purpose of increasing international trade. For this purpose Britain has extended credit of upward of a billion dollars to other countries, to France alone upward of half a billion.

If we are still interested in restoring the world economically, we are still interested in preventing collapse of Britain. One result of British collapse would be a direct and immediate cost to us. Britain has used much of our grant to her in order to help feed Germany and for occupation expenses. If Britain should collapse, she might be unable to continue this.

New Labor Law Makes Possible Constructive Labor Agreement

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—Viewed in the broad perspective of gain or loss to the cause of industrial peace, the Ford Motor Car Company by its new contract with the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) has accomplished constructively what never would have been possible without the Taft-Hartley law.

Instead of a capitulation or surrender to a union demand, as some of the first published reports indicated, the Ford Company has, in fact, obtained an assurance against illegal or wildcat strikes which in some respects is more solidly buttressed than any that could have been obtained by reliance solely on the damage provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

For the Ford Company obtained from the union a clause in the new contract by which the union binds itself not to sue the employer for a period of two years — that is during the life of the entire contract. In return for this, the company agreed to what amounts to a six-month probationary clause during which the union must be on good behavior with respect to wildcat strikes or else suits for damages will follow immediately after the expiration of the six months.

This probationary period results from the fact that after six months there can be an extension of the period needed for study of a solution if a majority of the committee—namely the neutral umpire and the two company representatives or the neutral umpire and the two union representatives—vote for such an extension.

Wildcat Strikes Is Bar

If wildcat strikes and work stoppages have occurred during the first six months, this evidence will be ample to prevent any extention of the period of immunity from damage suits that can be filed by the employer. It is stipulated, however, that future suits must relate only to those work stoppages occurring after the first six months in the event that the committee on study is not given an extension.

In addition, the union has already agreed with the Ford Company to a clause in the new contract whereby the union promises to employ its best efforts from now on to prevent wildcat strikes and to accept its disciplinary discharge of all member participants. Discharges occur after an agreed-upin procedure.

Thus, in effect, the Ford Motor Car Company has put the union on notice against unauthorized work stoppages which are so costly to production. The company, moreover, cannot agree to exempt the union from injunctive processes which the National Labor Board may take against any union which permits or authorizes a wildcat strike. Such action can be taken at any time that a contract is violated, irrespective of the damage-suit immunity agreed upon by the parties.

To the extent that the Ford Company refrains from pressing any damage suits during the first six months or any extension of that period, is this a surrender of principle? The answer lies in the fact that the Taft-Hartley law does not obligate the company or a union to file damage suits. This is purely discretionary with either side. Suits could have been filed even before the Taft-Hartley law was passed, but there were technical difficulties in certain states and a union as an entity could not be sued.

There is no good reason why a union and an employer should resort to the law courts with damage suits if, for fixed periods, they can agree to pursue a course of conduct in good faith looking toward prevention of law violations or toward minimizing work stoppages.

Taft-Hartley Bill Credited

Without the Taft-Hartley law, however, there was no such leverage to the employer to enable him to secure pledges and commitments against a wildcat strike or unauthorized work stoppage. In the sense that the Taft-Hartley law has proved directly instrumental in obtaining these pledges of forbearance and since any violations can be taken care of by disciplinary action, agreed upon in advance by the company and the union, it may be that the Ford Motor Car Company has blazed a trail of guidance for other employers similarly situated. The broad purpose of industrial peace. If the Taft-Hartley law induces the adoption of a formula having industrial peace as its objective, the law may be said already to have achieved a victory over its predecessor. What would be wrong indeed would be a grant of immunity from suit to either side without a corresponding assurance of a fair procedure to eliminate unauthorized stoppages.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

ON BIAS

OCCASIONALLY this, as every other, writer is accused of bias. Some choose to deny the allegation. They contend that by some divine dispensation they are relieved of the human traits of prejudice, partisanship, belief and bias. They assume that they are capable of having an open mind on all subjects, which is tantamount to having no mind at all.

For the characteristic of an active mind is mingling knowledge with experience to form a judgment. We need not hold a fixed judgment on all questions, particularly upon those we know nothing about. For instance, few of us can have any judgment at all on the value of plutonium as we know nothing about this element except that it has been brought into existence in connection with the atom bomb.

Some matters are not related to knowledge and experience but are based on faith. Such fields of human decision are not matters of judgment but of belief, even of blind prejudice. I, for instance, choose irrevocably to accept the existence of a Divine Power, of God. I choose to believe that it was His decision that made man different from all else in nature at creation and gave to man the capacities of will and choice. My bias in this respect is beyond discussion. I choose to have a closed mind. I choose to be prejudiced.

On the other hand, in political matters, each man's accumulation of knowledge and experience indicates a course. Those who reach mature years and are still unable to reach a decision suffer from confusions which, in this era of misnomers, is called liberalism. They are like willows which not only move with the wind but bend to it. They are like tumble weeds which are blown hither and yon. Decision is impossible for them; rather, they seek popular acclaim, the voice of the many. They lean upon slogans and shift with changing polls. They are the kind who one moment shout: "All Hail! The King!," and the next: "Off with his head!"

Bias is not an unworthy attribute because it is a mark of decision, of judgment, of faith, of an assumption of responsibility. Of course, bias may become pigheadedness as when the son votes a political party because his father and grandfather voted that way. Bias may become evil prejudice as when a man hates another man because of race or color or geographical distribution.

But then hate itself is immoral under any circumstances and immorality is indefensible. Within the realm of moral law, man possesses the capacities of will and choice and judgment and these represent human liberty and dignity.

At the present time, in all the world, governments and controlling political parties attack bias and prejudice and partisanship with the object of repressing the will of man. They would prefer to turn the human race into robots, into unthinking, unbelieving instruments of production, manipulated by those who have seized and hold the power of the State.

Curiously enough, many intellectuals, professors in universities, writers, journalists prefer this way of life, for, granted security as long as they obey the masters, they need no judgments of their own. They belong to the ruling class as the intellectual slaves of Greece did by serving those who owned their bodies and used their minds. Aesop was such a slave. Does it matter who owned him?

A free press is a biased press. The non-partisan press evades the responsibility of judgment. The free press exists in very few countries because in most of the world today private judgment is not tolerated. Only those may use their judgment who belong to the ruling class that has seized the power of the State. In the United States, a tendency toward an unbiassed, non-partisan, open-minded press is creeping upon us. It is a definite menace, for soon controversy wil be replaced by obedience; frank discussion by accepted authority.

The OWI tried to achieve that during the war. Pressure groups, particularly on the Left, especially representing racial and religious controversies, tried to force the press to conform to their agitations. We have survived that — principally by preserving our right to bias and prejudice; that is, to free judgment.

About 15 years ago I made my bow on Broadway with a musical turkey called "Sweet and Low." A discerning critic dismissed it with the line—"The Rose that does not smell so sweet."

It floundered wildly and then drowned in a sea of red ink.

The day after it closed a press agent named Ned Alvord bounced into my office. He was sporting a seersucker cutaway, an iron derby and a David Belasco collar.

In a train-whistle voice he announced I could get my dough back if I had the guts to juice-up my show, take it to the hinterlands, and sell it like Barnum used to sell his circus. He gave off sparks and I caught fire.

I got some additional scratch by hocking my ASCAP royalties, and told Ned to let 'er rip.

I'll never forget how he advertised this pale little revue— "A Saturnalia of Wanton Rhythm"—"Voluptuous Houris"—"Dashing Demoiselles"—and every sentence ended "since the Dawn of Time!"

When I protested that we were carrying only a few crummy curtains and 18 bandy-legged chorus girls, Ned's deathless words were "Take the money and run for the train."

And for a screamingly success-year that's what we did!

Well, Ned has been thumping the tub for me ever since—"Jumbo," Fort Worth, the Aquacade, and "Carmen Jones."

I'm a respectable party now, squatting on my tail behind an 18th Century desk at the Ziegfeld—but whenever Ned blows into town I get the yen to chuck it all and again go whooping around the countryside.

New York show business is fine—but every year when the countryside's in bloom I keep thinking of Jimmy Durante's—"Here's to Freedman and the open road!"

Foresters Hold Report Meeting

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 6—The personnel of the Monongahela National Forest held a meeting in Marlington on Thursday and gave a report of the progress of their work to Regional Forester R. M. Evan, Philadelphia, and also their report of preparation for August's work.

New problems discussed included grazing, beaver management and fish stocking. In 1948, grazing fees on certain areas will be increased one and one half times the present rate, with the rates based on the capacity or ability of the range to produce grass, and hence beef and wool.

Beaver, which is a comparatively new game crop, will be handled in the National Forest under special use permits. This procedure is in accordance with cooperative agreements between the Conservation Commission and the Forest Service. A state beaver license is now required with applications to trap being accepted by National Forest Rangers.

Pressure on State Hatcheries just before the opening of fishing has resulted in heavy concentration of stocking in limited sections of streams. To overcome this, holding troughs will be installed in the National Forest for fish consigned to streams there and nearby. This will permit trucks to unload quickly. Fish can then be distributed in riffles and be spread over more streams resulting in better stocking.

Attending the meeting with Mr. Evans, was Arthur A. Woods, supervisor of Monongahela National Forest, his assistant, H. C. Frayer, also C. R. McKin, executive secretary. John F. King, in charge of forest communications; William P. Mahoney, road maintenance and bridge construction foreman; Gordon G. Marks, assistant timber manager, all of Elkins; Ranger Ralph Rowland, Cheat District; Carl E. Burgtorf, Petersburg; C. R. Carr, Richwood, Peter J. Hanlon, Bartlow, and Louis H. Cross, White Sulphur Springs.

The Conservation Commission was represented by James S. Linzey, supervisor of Wild life Management of the National Forest, and Wendell Swank, who is in charge of Beaver management, both of Parsons, as well as Dan Collins, Marlington who will succeed Lindzey in the fall when he is transferred to game census work.

S.S. Officers Named

D. L. Evans, Leadmine, was elected president of the Tucker County Sunday School organization at a reunion held at Camp Horseshoe recently. Other officers named were Mrs. Mabel Dumire, secretary and Mrs. Pearle Hile, treasurer. Nine schools attended the conference and the meeting date for next year's reunion was set for the third Sunday in August.

The Past Councilors Circle of Our Flag of Cumberland Council No. 100, D. of A., will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Eva O'Neal, 1205 Bedford Street, with Mrs. Hazel Burke cohostess.

Foresters Hold Report Meeting

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 6—The personnel of the Monongahela National Forest held a meeting in Marlington on Thursday and gave a report of the progress of their work to Regional Forester R. M. Evan, Philadelphia, and also their report of preparation for August's work.

New problems discussed included grazing, beaver management and fish stocking. In 1948, grazing fees on certain areas will be increased one and one half times the present rate, with the rates based on the capacity or ability of the range to produce grass, and hence beef and wool.

Beaver, which is a comparatively new game crop, will be handled in the National Forest under special use permits. This procedure is in accordance with cooperative agreements between the Conservation Commission and the Forest Service. A state beaver license is now required with applications to trap being accepted by National Forest Rangers.

Pressure on State Hatcheries just before the opening of fishing has resulted in heavy concentration of stocking in limited sections of streams. To overcome this, holding troughs will be installed in the National Forest for fish consigned to streams there and nearby. This will permit trucks to unload quickly. Fish can then be distributed in riffles and be spread over more streams resulting in better stocking.

Attending the meeting with Mr. Evans, was Arthur A. Woods, supervisor of Monongahela National Forest, his assistant, H. C. Frayer, also C. R. McKin, executive secretary. John F. King, in charge of forest communications; William P. Mahoney, road maintenance and bridge construction foreman; Gordon G. Marks, assistant timber manager, all of Elkins; Ranger Ralph Rowland, Cheat District; Carl E. Burgtorf, Petersburg; C. R. Carr, Richwood, Peter J. Hanlon, Bartlow, and Louis H. Cross, White Sulphur Springs.

The Conservation Commission was represented by James S. Linzey, supervisor of Wild life Management of the National Forest, and Wendell Swank, who is in charge of Beaver management, both of Parsons, as well as Dan Collins, Marlington who will succeed Lindzey in the fall when he is transferred to game census work.

S.S. Officers Named

D. L. Evans, Leadmine, was elected president of the Tucker County Sunday School organization at a reunion held at Camp Horseshoe recently. Other officers named were Mrs. Mabel Dumire, secretary and Mrs. Pearle Hile, treasurer. Nine schools attended the conference and the meeting date for next year's reunion was set for the third Sunday in August.

The Past Councilors Circle of Our Flag of Cumberland Council No. 100, D. of A., will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Eva O'Neal, 1205 Bedford Street, with Mrs. Hazel Burke cohostess.

Seven Building Permits Granted

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 6 — The Mayor and City Council of Keyser granted seven building permits at a meeting held this week.

The Times and Alleganian Company, Cumberland, was given a permit to erect a metal sign with neon letters on the second-story at 10 Armstrong Street.

Joseph H. Taylor, by N. C. Taylor, was granted a permit to erect a dwelling house on his lot on South Main Street, of concrete block construction with a shingle roof. The structure will be 30 x 50 feet, and cost approximately $4,000.

C. Earl Moss was granted a permit to erect a chicken house on the rear of his lot on West Piedmont Street, to be of frame construction 14 x 30 feet, at an approximate cost of $300.

S. P. Haines and Arnold D. Haines were given permission to erect a garage on the rear of their lot at 78 Pershing Street, block construction, 30 x 60, to cost $1,800.00.

United Pentecostal Church was given a permit to erect a church at 432 North Mineral Street, block construction 30 x 45, and to cost $3,800.00.

O. H. Urice was issued a permit to build two houses and to remodel a building that was once used as a service station. The house will be built on Armstrong Street Extended, on Lots 8 and 9, once known as the C. O. Byrd land. The houses will be 24 x 32 feet, concrete block with composition shingle roof. Remodeling of the service station will consist of a block foundation, a basement and changes of windows and roof.

Lester H. Oates was given permission to add two bathrooms and one bedroom to his house at 78-80 A Street, to be of frame construction 18 x 12 feet, at approximately $1,100.

Better Sewage Handling Sought

Improved handling of sewage in the Bedford Road section is sought in a petition being circulated among residents of that area askin[illegible] City of Cumberland to install a septic tank in that vicinity.

For years sewage has been dumped into individual tanks by the various residents, and over the period the ground has become saturated. Backers of the petition claim that present conditions create a health menace which could easily strike residents of the entire city. There are about 50 homes in that section.

It is maintained that a septic tank could be installed in the vicinity of the crossroads and sewage could be treated in mass with chlorine. It is proposed to pipe the sewage to the tank, and the idea is advanced that with one central tank the many individual ones would be eliminated and the problem concentrated in one spot.

It is proposed that property owners pay the cost, as elsewhere in the city, of laying a sewer line to the site of the proposed tank. The tank, along with the necessary ground and treatment facilities, it is believed, could be placed in operation at a cost of not more than $8,000.

Cumberland Left Out Of Highway Proposal

Regret that Cumberland has not been included on a new proposed interstate system of highways as planned by the Public Roads Administration was expressed yesterday by Mayor Thomas S. Post.

The roads are planned under the Highway Act of 1944 in order to provide direct connections between "principal metropolitan areas, cities and industrial centers, to serve the national defense and to connect suitable border points."

Hagerstown and Harrisburg, Pa., would be two hub points for the proposed roads which would be financed by federal and state governments.

Corriganville Pair Held In County Jail

George Wolfe and Russell Bagley, were lodged in the county jail late yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct, and will be given a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court this morning at 10 o'clock.

The pair was arrested by Constable Branson Nelson of Bowman's Addition, on a warrant charging them with creating a disturbance at DeHaven's Tavern, Corriganville, August 2.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6 — Ricky Soma, the Mona Lisa faced Ballerina, who came here to test for "Miracle of the Bells" didn't get the job. But she pirouetted herself into a contract with David Selznick, and that, my friends, is a lucky break for the girl.

Jack Carson

I was very interested to hear that David is more interested in her as an actress rather than a dancer. In fact, the 18-year-old beauty will give up her ballet work and go immediately into a long period of dramatic coaching.

First, she goes to the La Jolla playhouse for summer stock appearances, after which she will make a series of screen tests.

By the way, her full name is Enrica and she is the daughter of Anthony Soma, who runs the well known New York restaurant, Tony's.

Johnny Farrow, who had his difficulties with Paramount, has settled them, I'm glad to say, because Johnny and Paramount are good for each other and he's made some top pictures with Henry Ginsberg.

He, like all talented young men, every once in a while gets a little difficult—or maybe he feels his bosses get difficult.

Anyhow, everything is now sweetness and light and when Alan Ladd and Joan Caulfield take off for West Point, Johnny will go along, in charge of "the long grey line", the original story by William Wister Haines. This will be the fourth teaming picture of star Ladd and Director Farrow.

Clark Gable told me Sunday, that he had seen "Cass Timberlane" and he thought it was one of the best pictures he had ever seen. He says that Spencer Tracy and Lana Turner are wonderful.

There's talk that Lana may go into "home coming" with Clark, but that, of course, is not settled, because she's had two in a row—"Green Dolphin Street" and "Cass", yet to be shown.

We talked about "Boom Town", which he and I had both seen recently and which he made with Spenc. He said he'd like to make another picture with Spenc. Well, Tracy told me that he'd like to make a picture with Gable. How about it, MGM? These two were always awfully good together.

Chatter in Hollywood: The Doris Day-Jack Carson romance is more serious than outsiders know. Jack hasn't been really that devoted to any girl since he parted from his wife, Kay Germaine — and Doris returns his feeling.

Jack went around the Warner lot saying that in "Romance In High C", in which they were together, for the first time in his life he didn't mind having someone steal the picture from him.

I don't think Jack need worry that anyone can steal it from him. He's so good that he and Jack Warner are talking a 15-year deal.

When Townsend Netcher arrived in town last week, he was accompanied by Harriet Taylor, the very rich oil widow.

Mrs. Taylor has gone into the hospital for a minor operation, and the plan now, I hear, is for T., who belongs to the department store Netchers of Chicago, to marry the beautiful Harriet in Honolulu this fall.

When I first mentioned the marriage, Mrs. Taylor denied it, but I don't believe she will deny it now. They are madly in love.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:—The inside on the Carl Brisson-Ciro's cafe fracas is that he refused to sing if they insisted on serving during his numbers. Ciro's insisted—so he'll call it a two weeks vacation and visit his grandson, Rosalind Russell's little boy.

Mary Lee Fairbanks, wife of Doug Jr., has been in the hospital. She's expecting a baby in a few months, and it was thought best to have her under observation.

Betty Kern, wife of the popular publisher, "Hap" Kern, of our Boston paper, long distanced from Cape Cod that Lucille Ball was their weekend house guest. Lucille's play, "Dream Girl" is playing Boston.

Olivia De Havilland and Marcus Goodrich celebrate their first wedding anniversary August 26, and, believe me, it will be a celebration they have finally found a house after living in an apartment rented from Paulette Goddard for a year.

Jane Winton, well known in the movies before her marriage to Michael Gottlieb, is in town visiting. She hasn't been here in years—and looks well enough to go right back on the screen.

General John Pershing's nephew, De Vaughn Pershing, age nine, has been booked by Ken Murray for "Blackouts." The remarkable child plays everything from Bach to boogie-woogie.

Pev Marley will be in New York when Linda Darnell arrives next week.

Everyone who heard Kay Thompson in her song preview is doing a rave. She'll wow them with the sophisticated "Poor Suzette" when she opens in Las Vegas.

'Tis said that Sanford Adler, who bought the Flamingo in Las Vegas, made his chips in the real estate business originally. Adler had owned 5000 lots in Detroit and when the boom came along Adler's white elephants became gold nuggets.

That's all today.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6 — Ricky Soma, the Mona Lisa faced Ballerina, who came here to test for "Miracle of the Bells" didn't get the job. But she pirouetted herself into a contract with David Selznick, and that, my friends, is a lucky break for the girl.

Jack Carson

I was very interested to hear that David is more interested in her as an actress rather than a dancer. In fact, the 18-year-old beauty will give up her ballet work and go immediately into a long period of dramatic coaching.

First, she goes to the La Jolla playhouse for summer stock appearances, after which she will make a series of screen tests.

By the way, her full name is Enrica and she is the daughter of Anthony Soma, who runs the well known New York restaurant, Tony's.

Johnny Farrow, who had his difficulties with Paramount, has settled them, I'm glad to say, because Johnny and Paramount are good for each other and he's made some top pictures with Henry Ginsberg.

He, like all talented young men, every once in a while gets a little difficult—or maybe he feels his bosses get difficult.

Anyhow, everything is now sweetness and light and when Alan Ladd and Joan Caulfield take off for West Point, Johnny will go along, in charge of "the long grey line", the original story by William Wister Haines. This will be the fourth teaming picture of star Ladd and Director Farrow.

Clark Gable told me Sunday, that he had seen "Cass Timberlane" and he thought it was one of the best pictures he had ever seen. He says that Spencer Tracy and Lana Turner are wonderful.

There's talk that Lana may go into "home coming" with Clark, but that, of course, is not settled, because she's had two in a row—"Green Dolphin Street" and "Cass", yet to be shown.

We talked about "Boom Town", which he and I had both seen recently and which he made with Spenc. He said he'd like to make another picture with Spenc. Well, Tracy told me that he'd like to make a picture with Gable. How about it, MGM? These two were always awfully good together.

Chatter in Hollywood: The Doris Day-Jack Carson romance is more serious than outsiders know. Jack hasn't been really that devoted to any girl since he parted from his wife, Kay Germaine — and Doris returns his feeling.

Jack went around the Warner lot saying that in "Romance In High C", in which they were together, for the first time in his life he didn't mind having someone steal the picture from him.

I don't think Jack need worry that anyone can steal it from him. He's so good that he and Jack Warner are talking a 15-year deal.

When Townsend Netcher arrived in town last week, he was accompanied by Harriet Taylor, the very rich oil widow.

Mrs. Taylor has gone into the hospital for a minor operation, and the plan now, I hear, is for T., who belongs to the department store Netchers of Chicago, to marry the beautiful Harriet in Honolulu this fall.

When I first mentioned the marriage, Mrs. Taylor denied it, but I don't believe she will deny it now. They are madly in love.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:—The inside on the Carl Brisson-Ciro's cafe fracas is that he refused to sing if they insisted on serving during his numbers. Ciro's insisted—so he'll call it a two weeks vacation and visit his grandson, Rosalind Russell's little boy.

Mary Lee Fairbanks, wife of Doug Jr., has been in the hospital. She's expecting a baby in a few months, and it was thought best to have her under observation.

Betty Kern, wife of the popular publisher, "Hap" Kern, of our Boston paper, long distanced from Cape Cod that Lucille Ball was their weekend house guest. Lucille's play, "Dream Girl" is playing Boston.

Olivia De Havilland and Marcus Goodrich celebrate their first wedding anniversary August 26, and, believe me, it will be a celebration they have finally found a house after living in an apartment rented from Paulette Goddard for a year.

Jane Winton, well known in the movies before her marriage to Michael Gottlieb, is in town visiting. She hasn't been here in years—and looks well enough to go right back on the screen.

General John Pershing's nephew, De Vaughn Pershing, age nine, has been booked by Ken Murray for "Blackouts." The remarkable child plays everything from Bach to boogie-woogie.

Pev Marley will be in New York when Linda Darnell arrives next week.

Everyone who heard Kay Thompson in her song preview is doing a rave. She'll wow them with the sophisticated "Poor Suzette" when she opens in Las Vegas.

'Tis said that Sanford Adler, who bought the Flamingo in Las Vegas, made his chips in the real estate business originally. Adler had owned 5000 lots in Detroit and when the boom came along Adler's white elephants became gold nuggets.

That's all today.

Premature Baby, 4 Months Old, Is Doing Fine

MADISON, W. Va., Aug. 6 (AP) — A blue-eyed baby girl born four months prematurely and weighing only one pound, 11 ounces at birth has completed her first month of life in a hospital incubator here, and Dr. David Hill said today she has every chance for survival.

Dr. Hill, attending physician and director of the Madison General Hospital, said the survival of an infant born so early is extremely rare.

But he added that the child has gained five ounces in her first month of life, has normal digestion, elimination and respiration, and barring complications should develop normally.

Meantime, the two-pound infant, known so far only as "Inky" from her incubator home, winks and blinks, seems to recognize the approach of her nurse and doctor, and throws her hands and feet around with a vitality which belies her minute size.

Dr. Hill related that the child was delivered by Caesarian section last July 3 to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jarrell, of Uneeda, Boone County, after complications developed which would have prevented a normal birth.

First fed through her skin, she was started after two days on a medicine-dropper diet including canned goat's milk, orange juice, cod liver oil, vitamins and other ingredients.

"She sleeps with her hands clutched near her face," related nurse Lois McColgan, "and that's a pretty sure sign that the baby is normal and healthy."

So tiny is the child that the nurse made two dresses for her from one that the mother sent to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell have one other child, born normally 2½ years ago. The father is a coal miner.

Two Men Held

Ira A. Smith, 18, 906 Gay Street, and Dominus E. Sebold, Boone Street, are being held in the city jail for investigation. The former was arrested early yestetrday morning after police noticed him acting suspiciously in the down town section, authorities said.

Tip from the Smart Sex

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

WHO is it that's first to spot — and quickest to go for — a really fresh new fashion idea when it comes along?
The ladies, of course!
And who is it that, according to careful surveys, put Buick far ahead of its price class and up among the lowest-priced three when they name the car of their innermost choice?
The fair sex — but naturally!
And who is it, when you come right down to it, that gets the most practical use from enough stirring Fireball power to handle the day's travel-jobs without strain and struggle?
Who relishes most the restful ease of wide, cushiony seats, and the blissful gentleness of all-coil springs that make rough roads well-mannered and good roads glass-smooth?
Who goes for a car big enough to be company-minded — yet light and easy enough in handling to park without a tussle, and flit shadow-light through market-hour traffic?
Who, good friends, has the family's smartest eye-for-a-buy — the shrewdest size-up of what's really good?
No one but the Lady of the Household!
So we toss out this thought to you menfolks:
Chances are that you've been hankering for the kind of thrill that lurks in this great-hearted, great-powered beauty.
You'd sort of like to get your hands on a car as big and mighty as this — if you thought the better half could be sold on it.
Take our tip — she's already sold. Favored as it is by red-blooded males, no Buick we've ever offered has won the smart sex quite like this one.
So why not pull a pleasant surprise some evening soon? Just come home and say, "Well, I placed an order for a Buick today. They're taking 'em with or without a car to trade."
Then watch her fall all over your neck!

Eleven New Fish, Game Regulations Adopted

THEY STOLE SHOW—Hoot Mon, the top two-year-old of 1946, roared home in the second and third heats yesterday at Goshen, N. Y., to win the Hambletonian, the world's richest trotting stake. Hoot Mon is owned by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Johnson of Lexington, Ky., who purchased the colt for $50,000 last year. Old Sep Palin, seated in the sulky in the above photograph, piloted the winner. The victory was worth $24,979 to the owners of the horse with the Scotch name.

SEP PALIN DRIVES HOOT MON TO VICTORY IN HAMBLETONIAN

Runs 2-Minute Mile; Win Worth $24,979

By SID FEDER

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP) — Amid shattered records and shattered stands—73 persons were injured in the latter—a black streak of lightning tagged Hoot Mon struck the stretch of Good Time Park's kite-shaped racing strip today and sizzled to a smashing victory in the biggest Hambletonian of them all.

The black son of Scotland came roaring home in the second and third heats after being beaten by the giant favorite, Rodney, in the first go-round, as all Hambletonian gate and betting records were smashed for this 22nd running of the corn-tassel derby.

73 Persons Injured

On the darker side of the picture was the collapse of three sections of the temporary bleachers fronting the head of the stretch, which sent 73 fans—estimated by state police—to the Goshen hospital or the Red Cross tent at the track for treatment.

The highest-priced horse even to run in the Hambletonian—he cost his owners $50,000 just a year ago—Hoot Mon finally ended the "always a bridesmaid, never a bride," routine for Mr. and Mrs. James B. Johnson who breed trotters on their Lexington, Ky., farm and show horses on their Rochester, Mich., layout.

Twice before their Hambletonian hustlers had won single heats in this derby for the trotters, only to shatter their hopes by not being able to put together the required pair of victories in the mile dashes.

Today, though, they had as hot a horse as has been seen on any trotting track in quite a spell. And they had the hottest driver of them all, old Sep Palin, the Indianapolis wizard of the sulky pilots.

And between the two of them, there was nothing on this kite-shaped stripe to stop them once they found the range in the second heat.

In that one, coming from behind to overhaul Rodney, they fairly set fire to the stretch to hit the wire in two minutes flat for the mile — the fastest Hambletonian heat even run.

$24,979 For Winner

Then, switching their stuff, they came back to skip through a front-running race in the third heat in 2:02 1-5 to pick up the $24,979.86 winner's pay check as Rodney chased them all the way to the wire.

Aside from these two—Hoot Mon and Rodney—there was nothing else in the field of 13. Each time they practically left their closest rivals out of sight up the track.

TODAY'S GAME

Reed's vs. Astor Cab. (Community Park)

North End Social and Athletic Club and the Veterans of Foreign Wars tied the Concord Clothiers for third place in the City Softball League by scoring victories over Concord and Astor Cab in games played yesterday.

Glenn Kauffman turned back Concord with three hits and shut out the Clothiers as the North Enders registered a 2 to 0 victory at Stitcher Field. A base on balls, Mulvey's hit, a sacrifices and Joe Geatz's single produced North End's two markers in the 5th inning.

C. Yates, B. Smith and Hull got the hits credited to Concord. Welch, Mulvey and Joe Geatz had two hits each for the winners.

Astor Cab suffered its second defeat in three days when the V.F.W. won out in the last of the 7th by the score of 8-7. Two errors and a single by "Pruny" Lewis sent over the winning marker in the final frame. Charley Abe collected three hits for the Vets, including a homer, while Harry Minnicks hit safely three times for Astor.

Amvets Lengthen Lead

While Astor's runner-up team was being defeated the Amvets rolled on to their 14th straight triumph at the expense of the Maccabees, 13-2, at Compobello, to lengthen their lead to 4½ games in the second half championship race.

Doyle George headed the Amvets' offensive with three hits while Lou Bell, Howie Wilson and "Doc" Dougherty garnered two bingles each. Cage, McCarty, Cramblitt and Harden obtained two hits each for the Bees.

Lacy's Delicatets, first half champions, continued on the toboggan by dropping a 3-2 decision to Reed's Electricians at Taylor Field. Reed's sewed up the game in the sixth when Minnick scored the tying run on Durbin's error in left field and Hoxenbaugh drove in Pellerzi with the deciding run. "Fuzzy" Hoyle limited Lacy's to two hits and failed to issue a pass. "Pete" Elliott paced the Electricians by getting two hits. The game was played in one hour and was marked by good officiating on the part of Buck Frantz and Charley True.

Legion Tops Merchants

Mike Robinson's tossers from Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, won a slugfest affair from the Virginia Avenue Merchants at Community Park by the score of 16 to 14. McCahan, Mack's Rookie Pitcher, Tames Yanks, 5-3

Tosses Five-Hitter And Defeats Newsom

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6 — (AP) — Bill McCahan, promising rookie righthander of the Philadelphia Athletics limited the New York Yankees to five hits today in pitching the A's to a 5-3 conquest over the American League leaders.

Two of the blows yielded by McCahan were home runs by Al Clark and Billy Johnson which accounted for all of the Yankees' runs. Clark belted his first major league homer in the seventh and Johnson whacked his seventh of the year with one on and two out in the ninth.

McCahan gave up only one hit during the first six frames while the A's, after collecting their first hit of the game in the fifth, batted around and scored four runs in the sixth. That wrapped up the game and handed veteran Bobo Newsom his first setback in five decisions since he was obtained by the Yanks from Washington. Box:

TIGERS WIN PAIR

DETROIT, Aug. 6—(AP)—Sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians, 13 to 6 and 7 to 5, the Detroit Tigers vaulted ahead of the Boston Red Sox into second place in the American League today as Bob Feller failed in a try for his 14th victory.

Feller couldn't hold a 5-1 lead in the opener but the defeat was charged against Byron Stephens, third of four Cleveland pitchers, when Detroit jammed across nine runs in the eighth inning on seven hits, two walks and a pair of errors.

The Tigers counted all seven of their runs in the first two innings of the nightcap off Mel Harder before Charles (Red) Embree came on to pitch one-hit ball for the last 6 1-3 frames. The big lead was enough for Freddie Hitchinson to ride to his 11th victory. Box:

Cochell Springs Tennis Surprise

Turns Back Greenberg In Grass Courts Play

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—Young Earl Cochell of Forest Hills, N. Y., hasn't been playing tennis long, but today he turned a trick that has baffled some veterans for many years when he outlasted Seymour Greenberg of Chicago in the eastern grass courts championship at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club.

Cochell, a comparative unknown, and unseeded, stepped on the court, and after being blown over in the first set by the two-time national clay courts champion, calmly went about the business of grabbing the next two sets to take the fourth round match, 1-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The Cochell upset over the eighth-seeded Greenberg was the most unusual feature as the quarter-final round in the men's singles was filled with no other upsets. The first seven seeded players and Cochell gained the round of eight.

Some of the top-notchers had scares thrown into them, though Bob Falkenburg, of Beverly Hills, Calif., rated No. 5, squeezed past Jack Tuero of New Orleans, 9-7, 2-6, 6-2.

Century Athletic Club Trims Aristocrats, 11-4

FROSTBURG, Aug. 6—The Century Athletic Club solved the offerings of "Cub" Taylor for 13 hits today and easily defeated the Aristocrats by the score of 11 to 4.

The outcome of today's game tied the C.A.C. and Aristocrats for second place in the Frostburg Softball League.

Ritchie Middleton, Shaner, Dennison and Hughes had two hits each for the winners. One of Hughes' blows was a homer. Roger Day tossed a four-hitter for the C.A.C Score:

SIGNS WITH LIONS—Bullet Bill Dudley, right, former Pittsburgh Steeler halfback, cancelled his retirement plans yesterday and signed a 1947 contract with Owner Fred L. Mandel, Jr., of the Detroit Lions. Dudley interrupted his honeymoon with the former Elizabeth Leininger, center, Lynchburg, Va., to accept a Detroit salary estimated at not more than $25,000 for next season.

BILL DUDLEY SIGNS CONTRACT TO PLAY FOR DETROIT LIONS

Will Receive $25,000; Steelers Get Players

DETROIT, Aug. 6 (AP) — Honeymooning Bill Dudley, the National Football League's most valuable player last season, gave up plans to retire from the game and penned his name today to a contract with the Detroit Lions calling for an estimated $25,000.

The one-time All-America collegian, a Pittsburgh Steeler in 1946, flew into Detroit with his bride and not long afterward agreed to terms with Lions' owner Fred L. Mandel, Jr., in a deal with the Pennsylvania club involving five other players.

Dugger Goes With Dudley

Transferring to a Detroit uniform along with Dudley will be end Jack Dugger, formerly of Ohio State. In exchange, the Detroit Club sent outright to Pittsburgh two players — Bobby Cifers and Paul White, both backs—and the future rights to two others.

Detroit gave the Steelers the right to Michigan's Bob Chappuis, who is eligible for another collegiate season, and included also the right to Detroit's first draft choice next year in the National Football League.

"We're having to give Pittsburgh some mighty fine men," Mandel said, "but we're also getting two of the greatest in Dudley and Dugger. You can't get ball players like that without giving something in return."

Soon after the signing, Dudley and his wife, the former Elizabeth Leininger, of Lynchburg, Va., who were married a week ago, left for Charlottesville where he will wind up his affairs as an assistant University of Virginia coach. He said he hoped to return next week in time for the opening of training.

Led National League

Dudley made his professional debut with Pittsburgh in 1942 and led the NFL ball carriers with 696 yards gained. Then he spent three years in the Army Air Forces. In 1946 he returned to Pittsburgh and gained 604 yards from scrimmage to lead the league. He made the league's all-star teams both seasons.

As a collegian, Dudley placed in the modern record books a scoring record of 134 points as a Virginia senior in 1941. He is 25 years old, is two inches shorter than six feet and weighs only 175 pounds.

Public Hearing Results In Two Minor Revisions

Squirrel Season Dates Will Remain Unchange

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6 (AP) — The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, after conducting a public hearing on 11 proposed new regulations today, adopted the new changes with two minor revisions.

One of these revisions clarified the law concerning deer hunting in Frederick county, and emphasized that shooting could be conducted there whether snow was on the ground or not during the open season.

The other removed restrictions on bait-fish and fish-bait for persons who propagate or rear them for commercial purposes.

The commission also refused to change new rules on squirrel and dove shooting.

Harold Smith Kolmer, executive secretary, said the new regulations which were proposed by the commission July 9 would become effective Aug. 15.

As the deer law previously stood, only Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties were named specifically as places where hunting could be done with snow on the ground. Frederick County was in the same classification, but the law was similar to that for Cecil and Worcester counties where deer shooting is prohibited when snow is on the ground.

Lawful To Hunt In Snow

This sentence was added to the Frederick regulation:

"It shall also be lawful to hunt deer in said county during the open season when the ground is covered with snow."

The commission ruled July 9 that it would be unlawful to take fish-bait or bait-fish "of any description from any trout stream or its tributaries," and specified that "no person, firm or corporation shall take or have in possession more than 35-bait-fish or fish-bait in any one day, or a total limit of 50 conbined."

The change voted today added a line, specifying the limitation was for "bait from non-tidal waters of Maryland," and added:

"This regulation shall not apply to bait-fish or fish-bait propagated or reared commercially."

Squirrel Dates Stand

The commission refused to change its new squirrel season dates set for Sept. 15-30. The old dates were Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, and Nov. 15 to Dec. 31, but a shortage of squirrels caused the reduced season.

Some persons at the hearing subgested the time be made later or extended, and others would have limited squirrel shooting to rifles.

New dove regulations provide that the shooting hours be from 12 noon to sunset, instead of all day. State Game Warden Ernest A. Vaughn said recently the change was for both conservation and law enforcement.

Kolmer explained that many out-of-state hunters in four Eastern Shore counties would shoot the bag limit in the morning, take them home, and return for another hunt in the afternoon.

Approve Deep Creek Rules

The other new regulations approved include limiting rail or sora bird hunting from Sept. 1 to 30; rulings for privately-owned canoes, rowboats and sailboats on Deep Creek Lake; remove special rulings from the Battie Mixon fishing hole in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal; establish mink as a fur-bearing animal; prohibit trapping wild waterfowl; and allow sneak boat shooting of wild waterfowl in the Susquehanna flats for six days per week instead of three. The latter was revised because the federal government made such a drastic reduction in the duck hunting open season.

Cadillac Wins, 16-12, Eliminates Bouncers

Cadillac moved into the final round of the playoffs for the Junior City Softball League championship by eliminating Beightol's Bouncers yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 16 to 12.

It was the second defeat for Beightol's tossers in the series.

Gary Moler, Cadillac pitcher, smashed two home runs; "Bub" Frye walloped a homer and double and Charley Lattimer and Elmer Freeland each hit for the circuit. Freeland and Lattimer each hit safetly three times. Beightol led the Bouncers with the willow by getting three safeties.

Williams Street's Merchants squared their series with the Redmen by defeating the latter at East Side, 12-7. Each team has won one game in this series. The third and deciding game is set for Friday at Fort Hill. Bob Dickle collected two hits and two walks for the Merchants and drove home two runs with a double in the 7th during a four-run rally. Bill Turner had three hits for Williams Street and Lease hammered a homer for the Redmen.

Cadillac and the winner of the Williams Street-Redmen series will open their best - of - five - games championship series next Monday

Eleven New Fish, Game Regulations Adopted

THEY STOLE SHOW—Hoot Mon, the top two-year-old of 1946, roared home in the second and third heats yesterday at Goshen, N. Y., to win the Hambletonian, the world's richest trotting stake. Hoot Mon is owned by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Johnson of Lexington, Ky., who purchased the colt for $50,000 last year. Old Sep Palin, seated in the sulky in the above photograph, piloted the winner. The victory was worth $24,979 to the owners of the horse with the Scotch name.

SEP PALIN DRIVES HOOT MON TO VICTORY IN HAMBLETONIAN

Runs 2-Minute Mile; Win Worth $24,979

By SID FEDER

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP) — Amid shattered records and shattered stands—73 persons were injured in the latter—a black streak of lightning tagged Hoot Mon struck the stretch of Good Time Park's kite-shaped racing strip today and sizzled to a smashing victory in the biggest Hambletonian of them all.

The black son of Scotland came roaring home in the second and third heats after being beaten by the giant favorite, Rodney, in the first go-round, as all Hambletonian gate and betting records were smashed for this 22nd running of the corn-tassel derby.

73 Persons Injured

On the darker side of the picture was the collapse of three sections of the temporary bleachers fronting the head of the stretch, which sent 73 fans—estimated by state police—to the Goshen hospital or the Red Cross tent at the track for treatment.

The highest-priced horse even to run in the Hambletonian—he cost his owners $50,000 just a year ago—Hoot Mon finally ended the "always a bridesmaid, never a bride," routine for Mr. and Mrs. James B. Johnson who breed trotters on their Lexington, Ky., farm and show horses on their Rochester, Mich., layout.

Twice before their Hambletonian hustlers had won single heats in this derby for the trotters, only to shatter their hopes by not being able to put together the required pair of victories in the mile dashes.

Today, though, they had as hot a horse as has been seen on any trotting track in quite a spell. And they had the hottest driver of them all, old Sep Palin, the Indianapolis wizard of the sulky pilots.

And between the two of them, there was nothing on this kite-shaped stripe to stop them once they found the range in the second heat.

In that one, coming from behind to overhaul Rodney, they fairly set fire to the stretch to hit the wire in two minutes flat for the mile — the fastest Hambletonian heat even run.

$24,979 For Winner

Then, switching their stuff, they came back to skip through a front-running race in the third heat in 2:02 1-5 to pick up the $24,979.86 winner's pay check as Rodney chased them all the way to the wire.

Aside from these two—Hoot Mon and Rodney—there was nothing else in the field of 13. Each time they practically left their closest rivals out of sight up the track.

TODAY'S GAME
Reed's vs. Astor Cab. (Community Park)

North End Social and Athletic Club and the Veterans of Foreign Wars tied the Concord Clothiers for third place in the City Softball League by scoring victories over Concord and Astor Cab in games played yesterday.

Glenn Kauffman turned back Concord with three hits and shut out the Clothiers as the North Enders registered a 2 to 0 victory at Stitcher Field. A base on balls, Mulvey's hit, a sacrifices and Joe Geatz's single produced North End's two markers in the 5th inning.

C. Yates, B. Smith and Hull got the hits credited to Concord. Welch, Mulvey and Joe Geatz had two hits each for the winners.

Astor Cab suffered its second defeat in three days when the V.F.W. won out in the last of the 7th by the score of 8-7. Two errors and a single by "Pruny" Lewis sent over the winning marker in the final frame. Charley Abe collected three hits for the Vets, including a homer, while Harry Minnicks hit safely three times for Astor.

Amvets Lengthen Lead

While Astor's runner-up team was being defeated the Amvets rolled on to their 14th straight triumph at the expense of the Maccabees, 13-2, at Compobello, to lengthen their lead to 4½ games in the second half championship race.

Doyle George headed the Amvets' offensive with three hits while Lou Bell, Howie Wilson and "Doc" Dougherty garnered two bingles each. Cage, McCarty, Cramblitt and Harden obtained two hits each for the Bees.

Lacy's Delicatets, first half champions, continued on the toboggan by dropping a 3-2 decision to Reed's Electricians at Taylor Field. Reed's sewed up the game in the sixth when Minnick scored the tying run on Durbin's error in left field and Hoxenbaugh drove in Pellerzi with the deciding run. "Fuzzy" Hoyle limited Lacy's to two hits and failed to issue a pass. "Pete" Elliott paced the Electricians by getting two hits. The game was played in one hour and was marked by good officiating on the part of Buck Frantz and Charley True.

Legion Tops Merchants

Mike Robinson's tossers from Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, won a slugfest affair from the Virginia Avenue Merchants at Community Park by the score of 16 to 14. Basilio and Brant of the Legion and Sisk of the Merchants smacked home runs. Sisk of Virginia Avenue and Brant and D. Crabtree of the Legion rapped out three hits each. Scores:

McCahan, Mack's Rookie Pitcher, Tames Yanks, 5-3

Tosses Five-Hitter And Defeats Newsom

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6 — (AP) — Bill McCahan, promising rookie righthander of the Philadelphia Athletics limited the New York Yankees to five hits today in pitching the A's to a 5-3 conquest over the American League leaders.

Two of the blows yielded by McCahan were home runs by Al Clark and Billy Johnson which accounted for all of the Yankees' runs. Clark belted his first major league homer in the seventh and Johnson whacked his seventh of the year with one on and two out in the ninth.

McCahan gave up only one hit during the first six frames while the A's, after collecting their first hit of the game in the fifth, batted around and scored four runs in the sixth. That wrapped up the game and handed veteran Bobo Newsom his first setback in five decisions since he was obtained by the Yanks from Washington. Box:

TIGERS WIN PAIR

DETROIT, Aug. 6—(AP)—Sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians, 13 to 6 and 7 to 5, the Detroit Tigers vaulted ahead of the Boston Red Sox into second place in the American League today as Bob Feller failed in a try for his 14th victory.

Feller couldn't hold a 5-1 lead in the opener but the defeat was charged against Byron Stephens, third of four Cleveland pitchers, when Detroit jammed across nine runs in the eighth inning on seven hits, two walks and a pair of errors.

The Tigers counted all seven of their runs in the first two innings of the nightcap off Mel Harder before Charles (Red) Embree came on to pitch one-hit ball for the last 6 1-3 frames. The big lead was enough for Freddie Hitchinson to ride to his 11th victory. Box:

The Cumberland Rifle Club continued its domination of the Western Maryland Rifle League by winning the fifth match of the summer series held at the Frostburg range on Monday.

Cumberland turned in a team total of 1975-102X to subdue its rivals, the Fort Hill Club, by a comfortable margin of 11 points. The Fort Hill marksmen posted 1964-77X. Barton finished third with a score of 1946-76X.

In scoring its fourth consecutive victory, the Cumberland team was ably led by Ken Hauser, who was high individual shooter with a score of 199-13X at 50 yards and a possible 200-13X, at 100 yards. Hauser's 200-possible at 100 yards was the first of the season, and the Cumberland team score of 1975-102X is the hightest team total fired to date.

Makinz a clean sweep of the match, second and third high individual honors went to C. F. "Jack" Fulk, with 396-24X, and Roy Ringler, 395-20X, respectively, both of the Cumberland group.

Cochell Springs Tennis Surprise

Turns Back Greenberg In Grass Courts Play

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—Young Earl Cochell of Forest Hills, N. Y., hasn't been playing tennis long, but today he turned a trick that has baffled some veterans for many years when he outlasted Seymour Greenberg of Chicago in the eastern grass courts championship at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club.

Cochell, a comparative unknown, and unseeded, stepped on the court, and after being blown over in the first set by the two-time national clay courts champion, calmly went about the business of grabbing the next two sets to take the fourth round match, 1-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The Cochell upset over the eighth-seeded Greenberg was the most unusual feature as the quarter-final round in the men's singles was filled with no other upsets. The first seven seeded players and Cochell gained the round of eight.

Some of the top-notchers had scares thrown into them, though Bob Falkenburg, of Beverly Hills, Calif., rated No. 5, squeezed past Jack Tuero of New Orleans, 9-7, 2-6, 6-2.

Century Athletic Club Trims Aristocrats, 11-4

FROSTBURG, Aug. 6—The Century Athletic Club solved the offerings of "Cub" Taylor for 13 hits today and easily defeated the Aristocrats by the score of 11 to 4.

The outcome of today's game tied the C.A.C. and Aristocrats for second place in the Frostburg Softball League.

Ritchie Middleton, Shaner, Dennison and Hughes had two hits each for the winners. One of Hughes' blows was a homer. Roger Day tossed a four-hitter for the C.A.C Score:

SIGNS WITH LIONS—Bullet Bill Dudley, right, former Pittsburgh Steeler halfback, cancelled his retirement plans yesterday and signed a 1947 contract with Owner Fred L. Mandel, Jr., of the Detroit Lions. Dudley interrupted his honeymoon with the former Elizabeth Leininger, center, Lynchburg, Va., to accept a Detroit salary estimated at not more than $25,000 for next season.

BILL DUDLEY SIGNS CONTRACT TO PLAY FOR DETROIT LIONS

Will Receive $25,000; Steelers Get Players

DETROIT, Aug. 6 (AP) — Honeymooning Bill Dudley, the National Football League's most valuable player last season, gave up plans to retire from the game and penned his name today to a contract with the Detroit Lions calling for an estimated $25,000.

The one-time All-America collegian, a Pittsburgh Steeler in 1946, flew into Detroit with his bride and not long afterward agreed to terms with Lions' owner Fred L. Mandel, Jr., in a deal with the Pennsylvania club involving five other players.

Dugger Goes With Dudley

Transferring to a Detroit uniform along with Dudley will be end Jack Dugger, formerly of Ohio State. In exchange, the Detroit Club sent outright to Pittsburgh two players — Bobby Cifers and Paul White, both backs—and the future rights to two others.

Detroit gave the Steelers the right to Michigan's Bob Chappuis, who is eligible for another collegiate season, and included also the right to Detroit's first draft choice next year in the National Football League.

"We're having to give Pittsburgh some mighty fine men," Mandel said, "but we're also getting two of the greatest in Dudley and Dugger. You can't get ball players like that without giving something in return."

Soon after the signing, Dudley and his wife, the former Elizabeth Leininger, of Lynchburg, Va., who were married a week ago, left for Charlottesville where he will wind up his affairs as an assistant University of Virginia coach. He said he hoped to return next week in time for the opening of training.

Led National League

Dudley made his professional debut with Pittsburgh in 1942 and led the NFL ball carriers with 696 yards gained. Then he spent three years in the Army Air Forces. In 1946 he returned to Pittsburgh and gained 604 yards from scrimmage to lead the league. He made the league's all-star teams both seasons.

As a collegian, Dudley placed in the modern record books a scoring record of 134 points as a Virginia senior in 1941. He is 25 years old, is two inches shorter than six feet and weighs only 175 pounds.

Public Hearing Results In Two Minor Revisions

Squirrel Season Dates Will Remain Unchange

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6 (AP) — The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, after conducting a public hearing on 11 proposed new regulations today, adopted the new changes with two minor revisions.

One of these revisions clarified the law concerning deer hunting in Frederick county, and emphasized that shooting could be conducted there whether snow was on the ground or not during the open season.

The other removed restrictions on bait-fish and fish-bait for persons who propagate or rear them for commercial purposes.

The commission also refused to change new rules on squirrel and dove shooting.

Harold Smith Kolmer, executive secretary, said the new regulations which were proposed by the commission July 9 would become effective Aug. 15.

As the deer law previously stood, only Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties were named specifically as places where hunting could be done with snow on the ground. Frederick County was in the same classification, but the law was similar to that for Cecil and Worcester counties where deer shooting is prohibited when snow is on the ground.

Lawful To Hunt In Snow

This sentence was added to the Frederick regulation:

"It shall also be lawful to hunt deer in said county during the open season when the ground is covered with snow."

The commission ruled July 9 that it would be unlawful to take fish-bait or bait-fish "of any description from any trout stream or its tributaries," and specified that "no person, firm or corporation shall take or have in possession more than 35-bait-fish or fish-bait in any one day, or a total limit of 50 conbined."

The change voted today added a line, specifying the limitation was for "bait from non-tidal waters of Maryland," and added:

"This regulation shall not apply to bait-fish or fish-bait propagated or reared commercially."

Squirrel Dates Stand

The commission refused to change its new squirrel season dates set for Sept. 15-30. The old dates were Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, and Nov. 15 to Dec. 31, but a shortage of squirrels caused the reduced season.

Some persons at the hearing subgested the time be made later or extended, and others would have limited squirrel shooting to rifles.

New dove regulations provide that the shooting hours be from 12 noon to sunset, instead of all day. State Game Warden Ernest A. Vaughn said recently the change was for both conservation and law enforcement.

Kolmer explained that many out-of-state hunters in four Eastern Shore counties would shoot the bag limit in the morning, take them home, and return for another hunt in the afternoon.

Approve Deep Creek Rules

The other new regulations approved include limiting rail or sora bird hunting from Sept. 1 to 30; rulings for privately-owned canoes, rowboats and sailboats on Deep Creek Lake; remove special rulings from the Battie Mixon fishing hole in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal; establish mink as a fur-bearing animal; prohibit trapping wild waterfowl; and allow sneak boat shooting of wild waterfowl in the Susquehanna flats for six days per week instead of three. The latter was revised because the federal government made such a drastic reduction in the duck hunting open season.

Cadillac Wins, 16-12, Eliminates Bouncers

Cadillac moved into the final round of the playoffs for the Junior City Softball League championship by eliminating Beightol's Bouncers yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 16 to 12.

It was the second defeat for Beightol's tossers in the series.

Gary Moler, Cadillac pitcher, smashed two home runs; "Bub" Frye walloped a homer and double and Charley Lattimer and Elmer Freeland each hit for the circuit. Freeland and Lattimer each hit safetly three times. Beightol led the Bouncers with the willow by getting three safeties.

Williams Street's Merchants squared their series with the Redmen by defeating the latter at East Side, 12-7. Each team has won one game in this series. The third and deciding game is set for Friday at Fort Hill. Bob Dickle collected two hits and two walks for the Merchants and drove home two runs with a double in the 7th during a four-run rally. Bill Turner had three hits for Williams Street and Lease hammered a

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Age Of The Involuntary Amateur

Not long ago "The New Yorker" printed a macabre little story about a radio set that tuned in to the conversations of the neighbors in the building rather than the censored air lanes outside. The terrifying possibilities inherent in this intrusion on privacy were not long in being exploited by radio.

The American Broadcasting Company now has a program "Candid Microphone" (7 p. m. EST Sundays) in which everyone may tune in their neighbors or, at any rate somebody's neighbors and listen to their unrehearsed, unwitting, unsponsored remarks. It's a wonderful sport, like looking through keyholes but capable of innitely greater variety.

John Crosby

The microphone might be anywhere and since Allen Funt, who originated the show and is the reporter on the other end of the microphone, has scarcely any inhibitions, there are no limits to where anywhere might be. The other night, for instance, he broadcast a conversation recorded in a ladies beauty parlor which was as frightening and illuminating as anything in Mrs. Claire Boothe Luce's play "The Women," though it hardly seems possible.

"His money! His position! His this! His that," screeched on woman, who sounded on the verge of hysteria. "I think he's a nobody or he wouldn't have to tell us about it. I'm so burned up I'm furious!" The exclamation points are mine and they are, I feel, totally inadequate; there was a spitting femininity about this babe that can't be punctuated or even suggested. The unclad conversation of the female under the dryer is as morbid and depressing a sound as anything I've ever heard.

In the few weeks the candid microphone has been in the air, it's been in lots of places. It was under the bed while a wife struggled to wake up her husband. It was under the table when two men tried to out-fumble a check. It's been in pet shops and Chinese laundries. It was in Funt's pocket when he tried to persuade a man to shave off his moustache for $50. How long can a man poke microphones under the noses of the unsuspecting without getting a poke in the jaw? This is a question which a lot of listeners have asked and which Mr. Funt himself asked on the aid the other night. He hasn't been poked yet, though many persons have become plenty angry. Incidentally, the network claims that no one goes on the air without his permission. Once the conversation is safely recorded, Funt breaks the news to the unknowing actor and, if he disapproves, the recording is destroyed in his presence.

Funt has tried to catch his people being, as he says, human. This is the problem which has beset artists and writers since the dawn of time and already Funt has discovered the mere transcription doesn't do it. Pathos, for example, comes across the air in matter of fact tones; people don't act like soap opera heroines no matter what their problems.

Already, Funt is attempting to persuade persons to do, not the ordinary, but the extraordinary. He dropped into a tailor's shop not long ago to inquire about a suit for a kangaroo. "A kangaroo!" said the tailor. "For heaven's sake." He paused a moment. "I've never tried anything like that."

"How many fittings would you need?"

"For a kangaroo?" There was another pause. "I'd need three fittings." They discussed the taly; should it be in or out? They decided out. "How long would it take—each fitting?"

"It depends on how ticklish he is," said the tailor gravely.

"This kangaroo will jump."

"I'm used to jumping people."

The candid microphone was, I suppose, inevitable. It all started, as I see it, when the first audience participant stepped to the microphone and announced belligerently he was from Brooklyn. It got a laugh then, and at first that was all that was needed. But Brooklyn palled eventually and it became necessary to pelt the Broklyn man with eggs, to put him in his wife's housedress, to send him to Alaska to search for gold. That was what you might describe as the Age of the Valuntary Amateur.

With the candid microphone, we are at the beginning of the Age of the Involuntary Amateur, the man who doesn't know it's loaded. The possibilities are limitless; the prospect is horrifying. Wait till the get the Candid Television Camera. You won't be safe in your own bathtub.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Age Of The Involuntary Amateur

Not long ago "The New Yorker" printed a macabre little story about a radio set that tuned in to the conversations of the neighbors in the building rather than the censored air lanes outside. The terrifying possibilities inherent in this intrusion on privacy were not long in being exploited by radio.

The American Broadcasting Company now has a program "Candid Microphone" (7 p. m. EST Sundays) in which everyone may tune in their neighbors or, at any rate somebody's neighbors and listen to their unrehearsed, unwitting, unsponsored remarks. It's a wonderful sport, like looking through keyholes but capable of innitely greater variety.

John Crosby

The microphone might be anywhere and since Allen Funt, who originated the show and is the reporter on the other end of the microphone, has scarcely any inhibitions, there are no limits to where anywhere might be. The other night, for instance, he broadcast a conversation recorded in a ladies beauty parlor which was as frightening and illuminating as anything in Mrs. Claire Boothe Luce's play "The Women," though it hardly seems possible.

"His money! His position! His this! His that," screeched on woman, who sounded on the verge of hysteria. "I think he's a nobody or he wouldn't have to tell us about it. I'm so burned up I'm furious!" The exclamation points are mine and they are, I feel, totally inadequate; there was a spitting femininity about this babe that can't be punctuated or even suggested. The unclad conversation of the female under the dryer is as morbid and depressing a sound as anything I've ever heard.

In the few weeks the candid microphone has been in the air, it's been in lots of places. It was under the bed while a wife struggled to wake up her husband. It was under the table when two men tried to out-fumble a check. It's been in pet shops and Chinese laundries. It was in Funt's pocket when he tried to persuade a man to shave off his moustache for $50. How long can a man poke microphones under the noses of the unsuspecting without getting a poke in the jaw? This is a question which a lot of listeners have asked and which Mr. Funt himself asked on the aid the other night. He hasn't been poked yet, though many persons have become plenty angry. Incidentally, the network claims that no one goes on the air without his permission. Once the conversation is safely recorded, Funt breaks the news to the unknowing actor and, if he disapproves, the recording is destroyed in his presence.

Funt has tried to catch his people being, as he says, human. This is the problem which has beset artists and writers since the dawn of time and already Funt has discovered the mere transcription doesn't do it. Pathos, for example, comes across the air in matter of fact tones; people don't act like soap opera heroines no matter what their problems.

Already, Funt is attempting to persuade persons to do, not the ordinary, but the extraordinary. He dropped into a tailor's shop not long ago to inquire about a suit for a kangaroo. "A kangaroo!" said the tailor. "For heaven's sake." He paused a moment. "I've never tried anything like that."

"How many fittings would you need?"

"For a kangaroo?" There was another pause. "I'd need three fittings." They discussed the taly; should it be in or out? They decided out. "How long would it take—each fitting?"

"It depends on how ticklish he is," said the tailor gravely.

"This kangaroo will jump."

"I'm used to jumping people."

The candid microphone was, I suppose, inevitable. It all started, as I see it, when the first audience participant stepped to the microphone and announced belligerently he was from Brooklyn. It got a laugh then, and at first that was all that was needed. But Brooklyn palled eventually and it became necessary to pelt the Broklyn man with eggs, to put him in his wife's housedress, to send him to Alaska to search for gold. That was what you might describe as the Age of the Valuntary Amateur.

With the candid microphone, we are at the beginning of the Age of the Involuntary Amateur, the man who doesn't know it's loaded. The possibilities are limitless; the prospect is horrifying. Wait till the get the Candid Television Camera. You won't be safe in your own bathtub.

Health Group Says Moorefield Water Supply Is Unsafe

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 6—At a Lions Club meeting this week, Dr. W. H. Maxwell, chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee of the club, reported that Moorefield municipal water supply has been found unsafe for use 16 times in 36 tests since January, 1946, made by the State Department of Health.

Dr. Maxwell also stated that the pumping station for the town's water works is inadequate to supply the town. He also said that three or four sewers empty into the river a short distance from the pumphouse.

R. H. Gridley, engineer with the state health department, recommends the installation of a filtering plant at the site of the present well and pumphouse.

Dr. Maxwell advised the residents using the system to boil all drinking water.

Perdew Orders Stein Held In County Jail

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew ordered Louis Stein, 321 Holland Street, committed to the county jail for a medical examination and ordered him held for 20 days after he was tried in Police Court yesterday.

Stein was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct counts resulting from an attack on his wife Tuesday night. He was fined $20 by Magistrate Perdew but will not have to pay the fine if he is "sent away."

In another case in Police Court yesterday, Ernest Evans, 212 Greene Street, was fined $5 on a disorderly conduct charge. He was held following a fight on Greene Street early yesterday morning.

A Maryland Avenue fight resulted in Arnold Sleeman, 230 Union Street, being given five days in jail in default of a $5 fine imposed for disorderly conduct, and the forfeiture of $10 bond by Raymond Brown, 476 Baltimore Avenue on the same charge. A similar count against Mary McCalley, 230 Union Street, was dismissed.

City May Benefit If Baltimore Lags

Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the State Roads Commission, told a conference of state and Baltimore City officials in Baltimore yesterday that the commission will deal with Cumberland and Hagerstown in allocating the urban road fund appropriated by the federal government if Baltimore does not provide a satisfactory plan for an expressway.

Cumberland, according to Mayor Thomas S. Post, has asked for a share of the fund to be used in construction of the proposed cross-town viaduct and in improving every city outlet if the latter would comply with the urban fund requirements.

Reindollar said it has been the commission's desire, because Baltimore is the largest center of population, to see that it gets the largest share of the fund, but he told the Baltimoreans yesterday that if they did not settle upon an expressway project they would lose $4,460,000 in federal road funds. Rather than lose the money, the commission will deal with Cumberland and Hagerstown who have asked for a part of the fund, Reindollar said.

City May Benefit If Baltimore Lags

Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the State Roads Commission, told a conference of state and Baltimore City officials in Baltimore yesterday that the commission will deal with Cumberland and Hagerstown in allocating the urban road fund appropriated by the federal government if Baltimore does not provide a satisfactory plan for an expressway.

Cumberland, according to Mayor Thomas S. Post, has asked for a share of the fund to be used in construction of the proposed crosstown viaduct and in improving every city outlet if the latter would comply with the urban fund requirements.

Reindollar said it has been the commission's desire, because Baltimore is the largest center of population, to see that it gets the largest share of the fund, but he told the Baltimoreans yesterday that if they did not settle upon an expressway project they would lose $4,460,000 in federal road funds. Rather than lose the money, the commission will deal with Cumberland and Hagerstown who have asked for a part of the fund, Reindollar said.

RIDGELEY SPEED LIMIT TO BE ENFORCED AS ROUTE 28 IS REPAVED

West Virginia State Route No. 28, is being repaved through Ridgeley, W. Va., from the bridge to the beginning of the concrete highway at the town limits. A complete coating of black top is being spread and rolled.

Mayor Frank B. Magruder declared last night that town officials will rigidly enforce the 25-mile-per-hour speed limit through the town, and it is expected the new road may be a temptation to speeders.

The roadway passes one of the community's playgrounds, and numerous children cross the highway during the day. Mayor Magruder said it will be necessary to enforce the speed limit, to avoid mishaps.

In recent weeks there have been reports of speeding along Route 28 in the town limits, with truck and tractor-trailer operators the principal violators.

On weekends especially, out of state cars have been seen speeding in the vicinity of the playground, and beginning immediately the town's limit will be strictly enforced, Mayor Magruder declared.

COURT HEARS DISPUTE OVER TAVERN LEASES

Hearing was held Wednesday in Circuit Court in the dispute between Clarence R. Nicholson and Ersel L. and Mrs. Catherine E. Perry, over leases on an Oldtown Road tavern property Nicholson rents from the Perry's. Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson withheld decision.

Represented by W. Earle Cobey, Nicholson has dropped claims for damages for 23 days in May when he was closed due to the alleged failure of Perry to sign his application for a beer license.

The dispute centers around two leases for the building where Nicholson operates a restaurant, grocery store and service station. The parties agree that a lease, prepared by Perry was signed in 1945, but was never recorded in Court. Later another lease, also prepared by Perry was signed.

Perry contends the second lease voided the first, but Nicholson maintains the second lease was to cover additional lots to be used as a parking area, and that the first lease is still in effect.

Robert Boden, assistant manager of the tavern, store and service station, testified concerning a dispute with Perry over parking of cars in front of the tavern and the resultant loss in sale of gasoline. Boden said Perry objected to the parking because it cut down his percentage under the lease agreement from the sale of gas.

The Perry's are represented by D. Lindley Sloan and Estel C. Kelley.

RIDGELEY SPEED LIMIT TO BE ENFORCED AS ROUTE 28 IS REPAVED

West Virginia State Route No. 28, is being repaved through Ridgeley, W. Va., from the bridge to the beginning of the concrete highway at the town limits. A complete coating of black top is being spread and rolled.

Mayor Frank B. Magruder declared last night that town officials will rigidly enforce the 25-mile-per-hour speed limit through the town, and it is expected the new road may be a temptation to speeders.

The roadway passes one of the community's playgrounds, and numerous children cross the highway during the day. Mayor Magruder said it will be necessary to enforce the speed limit, to avoid mishaps.

In recent weeks there have been reports of speeding along Route 28 in the town limits, with truck and tractor-trailer operators the principal violators.

On weekends especially, out of state cars have been seen speeding in the vicinity of the playground, and beginning immediately the town's limit will be strictly enforced, Mayor Magruder declared.

COURT HEARS DISPUTE OVER TAVERN LEASES

Hearing was held Wednesday in Circuit Court in the dispute between Clarence R. Nicholson and Ersel L. and Mrs. Catherine E. Perry, over leases on an Oldtown Road tavern property Nicholson rents from the Perry's. Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson withheld decision.

Represented by W. Earle Cobey, Nicholson has dropped claims for damages for 23 days in May when he was closed due to the alleged failure of Perry to sign his application for a beer license.

The dispute centers around two leases for the building where Nicholson operates a restaurant, grocery store and service station. The parties agree that a lease, prepared by Perry was signed in 1945, but was never recorded in Court. Later another lease, also prepared by Perry was signed.

Perry contends the second lease voided the first, but Nicholson maintains the second lease was to cover additional lots to be used as a parking area, and that the first lease is still in effect.

Robert Boden, assistant manager of the tavern, store and service station, testified concerning a dispute with Perry over parking of cars in front of the tavern and the resultant loss in sale of gasoline. Boden said Perry objected to the parking because it cut down his percentage under the lease agreement from the sale of gas.

The Perry's are represented by D. Lindley Sloan and Estel C. Kelley.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mary C. Zink, who departed this life August 7 1931.

There is a little word called Mother,
And it touches every heart,
With a tenderness and beauty,
That for her is set apart.
And in all the world of mothers,
Sweet, and fine, and precious, too,
While we know that there are others,
In our hearts there is only you.

Her Children—Mrs. J. E. Weaver, Margaret M. Love, George Zink.

Special Stocks Exhibit Strength As Many Market Leaders Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 6—(AP)—A number of special stocks exhibited quiet strength today while many market leaders shifted to lower territory in negligible dealings.

The path was cloudy from the start with the ticker tape frequently motionless. A brief selloff, fairly active, occurred in the fourth hour. Trends then steadied. The pace reverted to a crawl. Transfers of 660,000 shares compared with 750,000 Tuesday and were a low since June 27.

Nickel Plate preferred added four points at 113½ on the thought that a possible merger of this road with Wheeling and Lake Erie would take care of substantial dividend accumulations. Cannon Mills was up 3¾ at 76½, a 1947 peak, and Proctor and Gamble advanced 1½ at 66½.K Lesser improvement was shown for United States Stel, Chrysler, General Motors, Packard Motors, Sears Roebuck, Caterpillar Tractor, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Public Service of New Jersey, General Electric, Chesapeake and Ohio, Standard Oil (NJ) and American Sugar Refining.

Dimming prospects for film exports and box office resistance at home reduced Paramount three-fourths at 25 and Twentieth Century-Fox three-fourths at 28¾. Off one to two or so were Colgate-Palmolive at 44, United States Rubber 46½, Allied Chemical 191, Owens-Illinois 78½ and United States Gypsum 99. On the downside were Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, American Water Works, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Nickel Plate common, Texas Company, Phelph Dodge, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, United Fruit, Loew's and Warner Brothers.

Higher in the Curb were Fansteel, Bobcock and Wilcox, Root Petroleum, Brown Rubber and Middle West Corporation. Stumblers were Technicolor, Electric Bond and Share, Creole Petroleum and Cities Service. The aggregate here was 180,000 shares versus 170,000 yesterday.

Light selling skimmed fractions to around a point off prices of a number of railroad issues in the bond market. A good handful of carrier issues managed to stay at, or even a shade above, the previous close.

Turnover dropped to $2,420,000 from Tuesday's meager $3,240,000. United States governments moved narrowly in the over-the-counter market.

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Special Stocks Exhibit Strength As Many Market Leaders Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 6—(AP)—A number of special stocks exhibited quiet strength today while many market leaders shifted to lower territory in negligible dealings.

The path was cloudy from the start with the ticker tape frequently motionless. A brief selloff, fairly active, occurred in the fourth hour. Trends then steadied. The pace reverted to a crawl. Transfers of 660,000 shares compared with 750,000 Tuesday and were a low since June 27.

Nickel Plate preferred added four points at 113½ on the thought that a possible merger of this road with Wheeling and Lake Erie would take care of substantial dividend accumulations. Cannon Mills was up 3¾ at 76½, a 1947 peak, and Proctor and Gamble advanced 1½ at 66½.K Lesser improvement was shown for United States Stel, Chrysler, General Motors, Packard Motors, Sears Roebuck, Caterpillar Tractor, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Public Service of New Jersey, General Electric, Chesapeake and Ohio, Standard Oil (NJ) and American Sugar Refining.

Dimming prospects for film exports and box office resistance at home reduced Paramount three-fourths at 25 and Twentieth Century-Fox three-fourths at 28¾. Off one to two or so were Colgate-Palmolive at 44, United States Rubber 46½, Allied Chemical 191, Owens-Illinois 78½ and United States Gypsum 99. On the downside were Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, American Water Works, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Nickel Plate common, Texas Company, Phelph Dodge, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, United Fruit, Loew's and Warner Brothers.

Higher in the Curb were Fansteel, Bobcock and Wilcox, Root Petroleum, Brown Rubber and Middle West Corporation. Stumblers were Technicolor, Electric Bond and Share, Creole Petroleum and Cities Service. The aggregate here was 180,000 shares versus 170,000 yesterday.

Light selling skimmed fractions to around a point off prices of a number of railroad issues in the bond market. A good handful of carrier issues managed to stay at, or even a shade above, the previous close.

Turnover dropped to $2,420,000 from Tuesday's meager $3,240,000. United States governments moved narrowly in the over-the-counter market.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Med

Check Forging Racket Is Uncovered In City

Operators Use Name Of Mattress Company

A payroll check forging racket that has netted its operators at lesst $229.89, and police fear may run into several thousand dollars if check numbers were issued sonsecutively, was uncovered in the city yesterday.

Detective Edwin R. Lilya said information about the checks, which were cashed Saturday, was first called to the department's attention yesterday when several of the checks were returned to the Cumberland Mattress Manufacturing Company by the First National Bank.

As far as police have been able to learn all of the checks were cashed by the same man, but were made payable to three different persons. They were drawn on the First National Bank, and marked to indicate that they had been issued by the mattress company as payroll checks, according to police.

Police Have Six Checks

Six of the checks, all cashed by Baltimore Street merchants were in the hands of police yesterday, but Detectinve Lilya said complaints are continuing to "pour" in to the office of State's Attorney and the matress company.

Serial numbers on the checks that pjolice already have in their possession range from No. 521 to No. 756. Police said if the checks were issued consecutively in the city the numbers would indicate that 325 worthless checks have been cashed by the racket operators.

Inestigation, according to police, has proved that of the six checks now in their possession all were endorsed in the same handwriting, and merchants descriptions of the man iIndicate that the same person cashed them.

Police said the description was vague but indicated the person was a man about 23 years of age, approximately five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds. Merchants said he was dressed in a sports shirt, slacks and was clean shaven.

Detective Lilya said the checks apparently were cashed Saturday afternoon just before the business houses closed for the weekend and added in each case a small purchase was made. Each of the checks were drawn for $38.30 and the sum was entered with a check protecting machine, the detective said, while the words "Cumberland Mattress Company" and "Payroll" were printed in black ink.

Police said they believed the type was superimposed over blank checks, which can be obtained at most stationery stores. The bank's name and city were typed in, according to police, while the actual check issued by the company has all of the information printed on a bright green paper.

Not Using Checks

Police said Richard Weigand, a company official, told them that the company has not issued a check for the past 60 days. All business transactions, and payrolls are met with cash, police said they were informed.

The checks which were signed by "F. C. Forster" were issued to "Guy J. Borrow, Social Security, No. 185-26-8036," "Robert A. Hamilton, Social Security No. 183-34-7864" and one to another name, which police could not recall. All were endorsed in the same handwriting, however, police stated.

In one incident while the man was cashing a check, the clerk asked for his address and, police said, he promptly informed her that he lived at 674 Fayette Street, this city. The notation was made on back of the check.

Detective Lilya said a check at the address disclosed that the family living there had no knowledge of the racket or of the men whose names appeared on the forged checks.

The Police Department said no estimate of the number of checks passed could be made yet, since complaints are still being received at a steady rate.

Police last night issued warnings to local merchants to beware of all checks when the merchant did not personally know the individual cashing it.

Westernport Woman Seeks Release

A petition and affidavit for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Estel C. Kelley, attorney, to gain the release of Mrs. Georgia Winkler, Westernport, from the county jail.

Jail attaches said last night Mrs. Winkler was sentenced by Trial Magistrate John Laughlin, Westernport, on a charge of creating a disturbance and was committed to the county jail August 1, to serve 30 days.

Chief Judge William A. Huster ordered the woman brought to court this morning at 10 o'clock for a hearing on her petition for release.

Kelley said last night that he filed the petition to test a couple of legal points in the case and believes his client has sufficient grounds to gain her release.

Two Are Questioned In Death Of Baby

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 6—(AP)—A 24-year-old unmarried woman was taken into custody today at Hancock and brought to Hagerstown for questioning in the death of a one-day-old infant girl.

Sheriff's officers also brought a 21-year-old Hancock man to Hagerstown where he and the woman were questioned by State's Attorney Martin L. Ingram.

The body of the newly-born infant was found Aug. 2 in a shoebox along the old C. & O. Canal, and the Washington County Deputy Medical Examiner said the child died of suffocation.

City Officer Luther L. Youngblood, a veteran of almost a quarter of a century on the police force, has signed up as an applicant to take the Civil Service examination to qualify for chief or assistant chief of police, according to records at the city clerk's office.

The first inspection of buses and automobiles used for the transportation of school children in Allegany County will be held Monday and Tuesday, August 25 and 26, Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel, said yesterday.

Eighty-eight buses and seven passenger cars will be in use.

Insurance coverage for the vehicles becomes effective Friday, August 15, Ramey said, adding that school bus contractors should arrange to have any garage work necessary on buses or cars performed between August 15 and 25.

License plates may be obtained at the office of the Board of Education at any time during the week of August 11, Ramey said, but he pointed out that between August 15 and September 3 the plates are to be used only to travel to garage for overhauling or repair work or travel to and from the inspection center.

Physical Exams Required

"A schedule for physical examinations of drivers as required by law is being worked out and Ramey explained that applications from drivers must be received and approved before the examination can be made.

Four new bus routes are planned, according to the supervisor, with two for the Oldtown Road section to bring children into Cumberland. The third is for the Frostburg-Eckhart section and the fourth for Mt. Savage. In addition a double run is planned for a McCoole bus which formerly made only one trip.

The number of runs, including doubles, this year is expected to reach 138 to 140 with the number of children being transported increasing to 5,700 from 5,500 last year.

Ramey estimated that the cost of transportation will advance 15 per cent due to increases for capital outlay and operations. Last year the cost was $120,000.

School bus contractors this year are Lester Rader, Chester Robinette, Albert Slider, Daniel Bender, Justin Heavner, Arthur Blubaugh, Willie Perrin, Mrs. L. B. Pilots Get Permission To Remove Damaged Planes From Farm Land

Efforts to remove hazards and annoyances caused by low flying airplanes appeared headed for a showdown here yesterday, after two pilots, who escaped injury in minor accidents, but caused considerable damage to a hay field near the city, were given permission to remove their aircrafts.

Miss Ruth A. Clauson, Hazen Road, four miles north of the city said last night she had agreed to let officials of the Cumberland Airport remove two Piper J-3 cubs which landed on her property Tuesday night after the engine on one "conked out."

Stops Airport Officials

According to police, Miss Clauson refused to permit the removal of the two planes Tuesday night, and again yesterday morning summoned authorities to order three airport officials off her property.

Miss Clauson said last night that she consented to the removal of the planes after she consulted her attorney, and the airport officials signed an agreement to compensate her for the damage caused to her property.

She explained that she refused to let the two pilots, Robert J. Stewart, Frostburg, and D. G. Dehrabach, 721 Maryland Avenue, remove the planes Tuesday night, because "I am not going to tolerate the continued hazards that planes from the local field have been creating over my and neighbors homes."

Miss Clauson said three employes of the Cumberland Airways Inc., appeared at her farm yesterday morning and began checking the planes in preparation to remove them, but she ordered them off the property.

One man, whom she identified as John A. Chapman, airport manager, became "abusive" and continued toward the planes, Mrs. Clauson declared, adding that she called police and had the men put off the property until she had had time to consult her attorney.

After seeing her attorney she granted permission for the planes to be removed and said Chapman again returned and flew one of the planes off the property. Chapman, according to Miss Clauson, was "very rude" when he returned.

She said Chapman flew the first of two planes that landed away but was forced to leave the second because its landing gear was damaged. Officials explained that the plane piloted by Dehrabach had a damaged landing gear.

Miss Clauson said the annoyances and hazards of planes flying low over her home has been growing steadily worse, and declared she had cited one pilot into court in an effort to curb the actions of local flyers.

The man, whom she identified as J. F. Williams, signed a statement promising "to do all in my power to stop planes from flying low over Miss Ruth Clauson's property and personally I shall not do such again," she said.

Low Flying Increases

Low flying planes have increased in number this year, Miss Clauson declared, and they are making a practice of flying low over her land because the 100-acre farm is a level piece of ground and ideal for flying over.

She declared, however, that many of the flyers dive at the house and fly so low that they "just clear the barn and house." Many of the Hazen Road residents are complaining about the condition, Miss Clauson stated.

On several occasions when she reported low flying incidents to authorities and identified the planes by number, that she was able to get "because they were flying so low," she was informed to swear out a warrant and action would be taken.

Miss Clauson said she refused to take such action because she didn't want to cause any of the men trouble, but explained that low flying over her property must be discontinued, "or it's going to result in a plane hitting one the homes in this section."

Trooper First Class Thomas G. Barton said he ordered the men off the property yesterday, but declared no action had been taken against the pilots. Dehrabach, according to Barton was flying without his license, but a check this morning proved that he had been issued a flying permit, the trooper said.

Miss Clauson did not divulge what settlement had been agreed to by her attorney or if she planned to take further action to curb the conditions that she asserts endangers her home. "I will let my attorney settle the matter," she declared.

Trooper Barton said Maryland State Police now are empowered to enforce Maryland's Aeronautic laws which coincide with rulings placed in effect by the Civil Aeronautic Board.

Barton said that under these laws no plane is permitted to fly under an altitude of 1,000 feet when passing over a city, town or community, or under 500 feet when flying over or near buildings in farming sections or open country.

"Buzzing" and trick flying over or near any dwelling or populated area are forbidden by the state laws, the trooper said.

Rosenbaum-Union Agree On Contract

An agreement on a new contract was reached yesterday by Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, AFL, and Rosenbaum Brothers Department Store, C. E. Stutzman, business agent of the union, reported last night.

Stutzman said the working agreement, effective until August 1, 1948, provides for a 40 hour work week and a "satisfactory" wage increase for employes of the store, the largest retail establishment in Cumberland.

The agreement was reached yesterday afternoon at a meeting attended by William A. Gunter, attorney for the company, Stutzman, and William R. McGinnis and John T. Saum, Jr., representing the International Clerks union.

Under the new arrangement, Mr. Gunter stated, the Rosenbaum store, beginning Monday, August 11, will open at 9:30 o'clock each morning instead of 9 o'clock.

This will enable the store to provide a 40 hour week for its 200 employes without staggering working schedules.

Union officials are continuing negotiations for new contracts with six other Cumberland retail establishments.

LaVale Residents Protest Beer Permit

A remonstrance has been filed with the Allegany County Liquor Control Board, by 52 residents of LaVale through their attorney John M. Robb, protesting the issuance of a beer license to Charles G. Poisal, Allegany Grove.

The petitioners claim the issuance of a retail beer license at this place would decrease the value of property there and is not necessary as the area is highly residential. Poisal operates a bowling alley and tourist camp on the old Allegany Grove Camp Grounds, under the trade name of Grove Recreation. He applied for a Class D license July 19.

No date has been set for a hearing.

Dr. A. H. Hawkins Tells Jaycees Facts On Cancer

"Cancer can be cured," Dr. Arthur H. Hawkins , well known local surgeon, told members of the Junior Association of Commerce last night at their regular meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club.

"Timely action on the part of the patient, makes cure possible and certain," Dr. Hawkins explained, as he delivered a lecture on the subject in every day non-medical terms, which every listener could understand.

"There is never a time when there is not at least one cancer case in local hospitals," Dr. Hawkins continued. Many of these are cured if discovered and treated in time.

"Medical authorities," he continued "believe cancer is more prevalent today than it once was, although some believe that it is more easily recognized."

Then he described how cancer attacks its victims, the various parts of the anatomy most frequently affected, and outlined some methods of treatment.

Dr. Hawkins said that in its early stages cancer is painless and that any malignant discoloration or apparent infection should be examined by a competent physician as soon as possible. Any symptoms or discomfort from any cause should be investigated.

Commenting upon the toll cancer is taking in this country, Dr. Hawkins said that between the Revolutionary War and World War II, Americans have engaged in 15 years of armed conflict with 244,000 persons killed. In a 15 year period, he outlined, 300,000 are killed by automobiles. But cancer kills 40,000 annually, or a greater toll than any thing else.

He urged that all persons, who have any idea or suspicion that they have cancer, take immediate steps to have a thorough examination by a competent physician. It is better to know you have it and know you can be treated in time than to take chances and let cancer get a foothold which may prove fatal, he suggested.

Legislative Group Ready To Start Inspection Trip

Headquarters Set Up In This City

Maryland's Legislative Council set up headquarters in the Fort Cumberland Hotel last night, held a brief business session and then relaxed before starting this morning on a four-day inspection trip of the state's two western counties.

Arriving at 10 p. m. on a special car on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the legislators, with only four members missing, were met near Queen City Station by a special bus which carried them to the hotel.

Sen. Joseph R. Byrnes, Baltimore president of the Senate, arrived later by automobile. Delegate Jacob Ramsburg, Frederick County, was here when the others arrived, and Delegate Jerome Robinson (Baltimore-4th) is expected today. Only Senator Joseph M. George (Queen Anne's) was unable to make the trip. Dr. Horace E. Flack, director of the Bureau of Legislative Reference, was in the party.

The business meeting, with Delegate Ferdinand C. Sybert, speaker of the House from Howard County, presiding, was only long enough to consider the itinerary of the trip which winds up Sunday afternoon at Oakland. At its close Sen. Robert B. Kimble (Allegany) and Mrs. Kimble, acting state commissioner of labor and industry, were hosts to the council at a reception in the private dining room at the hotel.

Only one change was noted in the original schedule announced here. On orders of President Roy Barton White, of the Baltimore and Ohio, the Cincinnatian, the B. and O.'s crack train, will make its first unscheduled stop Sunday afternoon at Oakland to pick up the council members and take them back to Baltimore. Originally it was planned for the party to board the Cincinnatian at Keyser, W. Va.

Dr. Flack was instructed to write President White a letter of appreciation.

Today's schedule includes breakfast with former Attorney General William C. Walsh, inspection of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, inspection and lunch at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, meeting with Tasker G. Lowndes, president of the State Board of Education; business meeting with county, city and town officials after dinner at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Cutting Victim Identifies Man Who Stabbed Him

A warrant for the arrest of Marvin Hamilton, Paw Paw, W. Va., negro, in connection with a cutting scrape in which Lawrence Thompson, Piedmont, negro, was wounded Tuesday night, has been issued, Piedmont police officials said last night.

Thompson, according to authorities, identified Hamilton as the man who stabbed him in the right chest following an argument at 11 p. m. on the corner of Pearl and East Hampshire Streets, Piedmont.

Police said both men had patronized the Ramble Inn earlier in the evening, according to Thompson, but the fight and cutting occurred farther down the street and not in front of the inn as the NEWS stated yesterday.

Thompson, who was questioned yesterday by Prosecuting Attorney Vernon Rankin, Keyser, told authorities that he didn't know what type instrument Hamilton used to inflict the wounds.

Thompson was treated by a Piedmont physician after the fight, and police said last night they did not believe he had been wounded seriously. He was dismissed by the physician following treatment.

State police in Maryland and West Virginia were alerted to apprehend three men who fled from the scene of the fighting after Thompson was stabbed and Maryland State Police formed road block on Route 220 and Route 36.

Thompson told police he was fighting with a negro from Paw Paw when Hamilton inflicted the wounds. Police said they do not know what the fight was about.

COMPLICATED SITUATION—When the two planes landed on Miss Ruth Clauson's property Tuesday night after the engine on the lower plane reportedly flown by Student Pilot D. G. Dehrbach, 721 Maryland Avenue, developed trouble, the Hazen Road resident brought to a showdown "hazards and annoyances" that she claims local pilots have been causing over her home for several years. Miss Clauson refused to permit the removal of either plane until employes of the Cumberland Airways Inc. agreed to compensate her for damage caused in the hay field. The lower plane, which was piloted by Instructor Robert J. Stevens, Frostburg, was permitted to take off from the field yesterday. The landing gear on the plane piloted by Dehrbach was damaged in the forced landing and will have to be trucked away, officials said. The plane Stevens was flying was repaired after the propellor was damaged when the plane nosed over in an attempted takeoff Tuesday night.

End Of Downtown Parking Advised By Engineers

Off-Street Lots Are Recommended

Elimination of all parking in downtown areas of Cumberland would be desirable to facilitate the flow of traffic and utilize existing roadways to the fullest extent, according to the report of Whitman, Requart and Associates to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

The report points out, however, that such a restriction undoubtedly would result in objections from business and commercial houses.

Construction of the proposed cross-town viaduct and diversion of traffic from the downtown area would do much to reduce the intensity of traffic in the center of the city, according to the report, but even with such improvements it is doubted if conditions will be sufficiently improved to permit continued use of streets as parking areas.

The viaduct is seen as solving much of the problem, however, with the report pointing out that it will provide space for establishing public parking areas beneath the viaduct structure, and the engineers recommended that when such construction takes place the right-of-way below the bridge structure be developed for this purpose.

Engineers estimate that there will be sufficient area to permit the elimination of all parking in the downtown areas south of Baltimore Street.

For the area north of Baltimore Street it is believed that the only practicable solution is the construction of off-street parking lots, a problem now facing many cities.

The engineers say the solution appears to be the acquisition by the city of off-street parking areas which could be operated eoither by the city or by private parking lot operators under lease.

In high value property areas this solution is regarded as a costly one but one that appears to be necessary in view of both present and estimated future requirements.

For Cumberland it is believed that parking may be permitted on the relatively lightly travelled cross streets in the downtown area with the continuation of parking meters, but that on all streets which carry through traffic parking should be prohibited.

Miss Jean Dixon Dinner Guest Of Local Jaycees

Miss Caroline Jean Dixon, Cumberland's "Miss Maryland" was a guest of the Junior Association of Commerce, sponsors of the state competition which she won Monday night, at the association's dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Accompanied by Mrs. Carl F. Ballard, Jr., the former Miss Dixie Rafter who was "Miss Washington" several years ago, the pretty 18-year-old 1947 queen of the Queen City, was given a rising ovation by the 80 Jaycees present.

On reports of the contest, members of the committee told the Jaycees that the affair was a success in every way, and that arrangements are being made to send Miss Dixon and her chaperone to Atlantic City for the Miss America competition next month.

John M. Robb, president of the organization named the following committee to handle arrangements: Byron Kight, chairman; Jack Moore, transportation; David Kauffman, schedule and legal counsel; C. William Gilchrist, city and state promotion; F. Allan Weatherholt and Raymond O'Rourke, publicity planning; Ward Hauger and Bert Graham, awards.

It was disclosed last night in the reports of the competition, that Miss Dixon scored a total of 79 points, Miss Betty Lou Rankin as "Miss Lonaconing" scored 72 points and Miss Betty Zaleski, as "Miss Fort Meade," 71 points.

A survey of the balloting also indicated that heavier ballots were cast for Miss Dixon by out of town judges than by Cumberland judges. Cumberland judges frankly stated they leaned over backwards to be impartial and to give visiting girls every benefit of doubt. Jaycees were told that if visiting judges had followed the same trend of balloting as the local judges, the result would have been different.

Two Wrecks Occur Near Westernport

Two Beryl, W. Va., men were injured when the convertible coupe in which they were riding overturned on Phoenix Hill, two miles north of Westernport last night and two other drivers were booked on motor charges after a wreck on the McCoole Road near Westernport later in the evening.

Frank J. Sowers, 21, Beryl, and Gerald Swadley, 22, both of Beryl, suffered lacerations when the converttible coupe in which they were riding overturned at 8:15 last night on Phoenix Hill, police said. Swadley was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital for treatment.

The other wreck in the section occurred at 10:30 when a car operated by William Shock, 21, Beryl, W. Va., and an automobile driven by Henry S. Wilt, 29, 411 Hammond Street, sideswiped on the McCoole Road but no one was injured, police said.

Both men have been arraigned to appear at a hearing before Magistrate John Laughlin Saturday at 7 p. m., on state motor charges. Westernport Chief of Police Burzra Hanlin, assisted by Assistant Chief of Police Leonard Murphy, investigated.

Check Forging Racket Is Uncovered In City

Operators Use Name Of Mattress Company

A payroll check forging racket that has netted its operators at lesst $229.89, and police fear may run into several thousand dollars if check numbers were issued sonsecutively, was uncovered in the city yesterday.

Detective Edwin R. Lilya said information about the checks, which were cashed Saturday, was first called to the department's attention yesterday when several of the checks were returned to the Cumberland Mattress Manufacturing Company by the First National Bank.

As far as police have been able to learn all of the checks were cashed by the same man, but were made payable to three different persons. They were drawn on the First National Bank, and marked to indicate that they had been issued by the mattress company as payroll checks, according to police.

Police Have Six Checks

Six of the checks, all cashed by Baltimore Street merchants were in the hands of police yesterday, but Detectinve Lilya said complaints are continuing to "pour" in to the office of State's Attorney and the matress company.

Serial numbers on the checks that pjolice already have in their possession range from No. 521 to No. 756. Police said if the checks were issued consecutively in the city the numbers would indicate that 325 worthless checks have been cashed by the racket operators.

Inestigation, according to police, has proved that of the six checks now in their possession all were endorsed in the same handwriting, and merchants descriptions of the man ilndicate that the same person cashed them.

Police said the description was vague but indicated the person was a man about 23 years of age, approximately five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds. Merchants said he was dressed in a sports shirt, slacks and was clean shaven.

Detective Lilya said the checks apparently were cashed Saturday afternoon just before the business houses closed for the weekend and added in each case a small purchase was made. Each of the checks were drawn for $38.30 and the sum was entered with a check protecting machine, the detective said, while the words "Cumberland Mattress Company" and "Payroll" were printed in black ink.

Police said they believed the type was superimposed over blank checks, which can be obtained at most stationery stores. The bank's name and city were typed in, according to police, while the actual check issued by the company has all of the information printed on a bright green paper.

Not Using Checks

Police said Richard Weigand, a company official, told them that the company has not issued a check for the past 60 days. All business transactions, and payrolls are met with cash, police said they were informed.

The checks which were signed by "P. C. Forster" were issued to "Guy J. Borrow, Social Security, No. 185-26-8036," "Robert A. Hamilton, Social Security No. 183-34-7864" and one to another name, which police could not recall. All were endorsed in the same handwriting, however, police stated.

In one incident while the man was cashing a check, the clerk asked for his address and, police said, he promptly informed her that he lived at 674 Fayette Street, this city. The notation was made on back of the check.

Detective Lilya said a check at the address disclosed that the family living there had no knowledge of the racket or of the men whose names appeared on the forged checks.

The Police Department said no estimate of the number of checks passed could be made yet, since complaints are still being received at a steady rate.

Police last night issued warnings to local merchants to beware of all checks when the merchant did not personally know the individual cashing it.

The first inspection of buses and automobiles used for the transportation of school children in Allegany County will be held Monday and Tuesday, August 25 and 26, Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel, said yesterday.

Eighty-eight buses and seven passenger cars will be in use.

Insurance coverage for the vehicles becomes effective Friday, August 15, Ramey said, adding that school bus contractors should arrange to have any garage work necessary on buses or cars performed between August 15 and 25.

License plates may be obtained at the office of the Board of Education at any time during the week of August 11, Ramey said, but he pointed out that between August 15 and September 3 the plates are to be used only to travel to garage for overhauling or repair work or travel to and from the inspection center.

Physical Exams Required

"A schedule for physical examinations of drivers as required by law is being worked out and Ramey explained that applications from drivers must be received and approved before the examination can be made.

Four new bus routes are planned, according to the supervisor, with two for the Oldtown Road section to bring children into Cumberland. The third is for the Frostburg-Eckhart section and the fourth for Mt. Savage. In addition a double run is planned for a McCoole bus which formerly made only one trip.

The number of runs, including doubles, this year is expected to reach 138 to 140 with the number of children being transported increasing to 5,700 from 5,500 last year.

Ramey estimated that the cost of transportation will advance 15 per cent due to increases for capital outlay and operations. Last year the cost was $120,000.

Pilots Get Permission To Remove Damaged Planes From Farm Land

Efforts to remove hazards and annoyances caused by low flying airplanes appeared headed for a showdown here yesterday, after two pilots, who escaped injury in minor accidents, but caused considerable damage to a hay field near the city, were given permission to remove their aircrafts.

Miss Ruth A. Clauson, Hazen Road, four miles north of the city said last night she had agreed to let officials of the Cumberland Airport remove two Piper J-3 cubs which landed on her property Tuesday night after the engine on one "conked out."

Stops Airport Officials

According to police, Miss Clauson refused to permit the removal of the two planes Tuesday night, and again yesterday morning summoned authorities to order three airport officials off her property.

Miss Clauson said last night that she consented to the removal of the planes after she consulted her attorney, and the airport officials signed an agreement to compensate her for the damage caused to her property.

She explained that she refused to let the two pilots, Robert J. Stewart, Frostburg, and D. G. Dehrabach, 721 Maryland Avenue, remove the planes Tuesday night, because "I am not going to tolerate the continued hazards that planes from the local field have been creating over my and neighbors homes."

Miss Clauson said three employes of the Cumberland Airways Inc., appeared at her farm yesterday morning and began checking the planes in preparation to remove them, but she ordered them off the property.

One man, whom she identified as John A. Chapman, airport manager, became "abusive" and continued toward the planes, Mrs. Clauson declared, adding that she called police and had the men put off the property until she had had time to consult her attorney.

After seeing her attorney she granted permission for the planes to be removed and said Chapman again returned and flew one of the planes off the property. Chapman, according to Miss Clauson, was "very rude" when he returned.

She said Chapman flew the first of two planes that landed away but was forced to leave the second because its landing gear was damaged. Officials explained that the plane piloted by Dehrabach had a damaged landing gear.

Miss Clauson said the annoyances and hazards of planes flying low over her home has been growing steadily worse, and declared she had cited one pilot into court in an effort to curb the actions of local flyers.

The man, whom she identified as J. F. Williams, signed a statement promising "to do all in my power to stop planes from flying low over Miss Ruth Clauson's property and personally I shall not do such again," she said.

Low Flying Increases

Low flying planes have increased in number this year, Miss Clauson declared, and they are making a practice of flying low over her land because the 100-acre farm is a level piece of ground and ideal for flying over.

She declared, however, that many of the flyers dive at the house and fly so low that they "just clear the barn and house." Many of the Hazen Road residents are complaining about the condition, Miss Clauson stated.

On several occasions when she reported low flying incidents to authorities and identified the planes by number, that she was able to get "because they were flying so low," she was informed to swear out a warrant and action would be taken.

Miss Clauson said she refused to take such action because she didn't want to cause any of the men trouble, but explained that low flying over her property must be discontinued, "or it's going to result in a plane hitting one the homes in this section."

Trooper First Class Thomas G. Barton said he ordered the men off the property yesterday, but declared no action had been taken against the pilots. Dehrabach, according to Barton was flying without his license, but a check this morning proved that he had been issued a flying permit, the trooper said.

Miss Clauson did not divulge what settlement had been agreed to by her attorney or if she planned to take further action to curb the conditions that she asserts endangers her home. "I will let my attorney settle the matter," she declared.

Trooper Barton said Maryland State Police now are empowered to enforce Maryland's Aeronautic laws which coincide with rulings placed in effect by the Civil Aeronautic Board.

Barton said that under these laws no plane is permitted to fly under an altitude of 1,000 feet when passing over a city, town or community, or under 500 feet when flying over or near buildings in farming sections or open country.

"Buzzing" and trick flying over or near any dwelling or populated area are forbidden by the state laws, the trooper said.

Rosenbaum-Union Agree On Contract

An agreement on a new contract was reached yesterday by Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, AFL, and Rosenbaum Brothers Department Store, C. E. Stutzman, business agent of the union, reported last night.

Stutzman said the working agreement, effective until August 1, 1948, provides for a 40 hour work week and a "satisfactory" wage increase for employes of the store, the largest retail establishment in Cumberland.

The agreement was reached yesterday afternoon at a meeting attended by William A. Gunter, attorney for the company, Stutzman, and William R. McGinnis and John T. Saum, Jr., representing the International Clerks union.

Under the new arrangement, Mr. Gunter stated, the Rosenbaum store, beginning Monday, August 11, will open at 9:30 o'clock each morning instead of 9 o'clock.

This will enable the store to provide a 40 hour week for its 200 employes without staggering working schedules.

Union officials are continuing negotiations for new contracts with six other Cumberland retail establishments.

LaVale Residents Protest Beer Permit

A remonstrance has been filed with the Allegany County Liquor Control Board, by 52 residents of LaVale through their attorney John M. Robb, protesting the issuance of a beer license to Charles G. Poisal, Allegany Grove.

The petitioners claim the issuance of a retail beer license at this place would decrease the value of property there and is not necessary as the area is highly residential. Poisal operates a bowling alley and tourist camp on the old Allegany Grove Camp Grounds, under the trade name of Grove Recreation. He applied for a Class D license July 19.

No date has been set for a hearing.

Dr. A. H. Hawkins Tells Jaycees Facts On Cancer

"Cancer can be cured," Dr. Arthur H. Hawkins , well known local surgeon, told members of the Junior Association of Commerce last night at their regular meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club.

"Timely action on the part of the patient, makes cure possible and certain," Dr. Hawkins explained, as he delivered a lecture on the subject in every day non-medical terms, which every listener could understand.

"There is never a time when there is not at least one cancer case in local hospitals," Dr. Hawkins continued. Many of these are cured if discovered and treated in time.

"Medical authorities," he continued "believe cancer is more prevalent today than it once was, although some believe that it is more easily recognized."

Then he described how cancer attacks its victims, the various parts of the anatomy most frequently affected, and outlined some methods of treatment.

Dr. Hawkins said that in its early stages cancer is painless and that any malignant discoloration or apparent infection should be examined by a competent physician as soon as possible. Any symptoms or discomfort from any cause should be investigated.

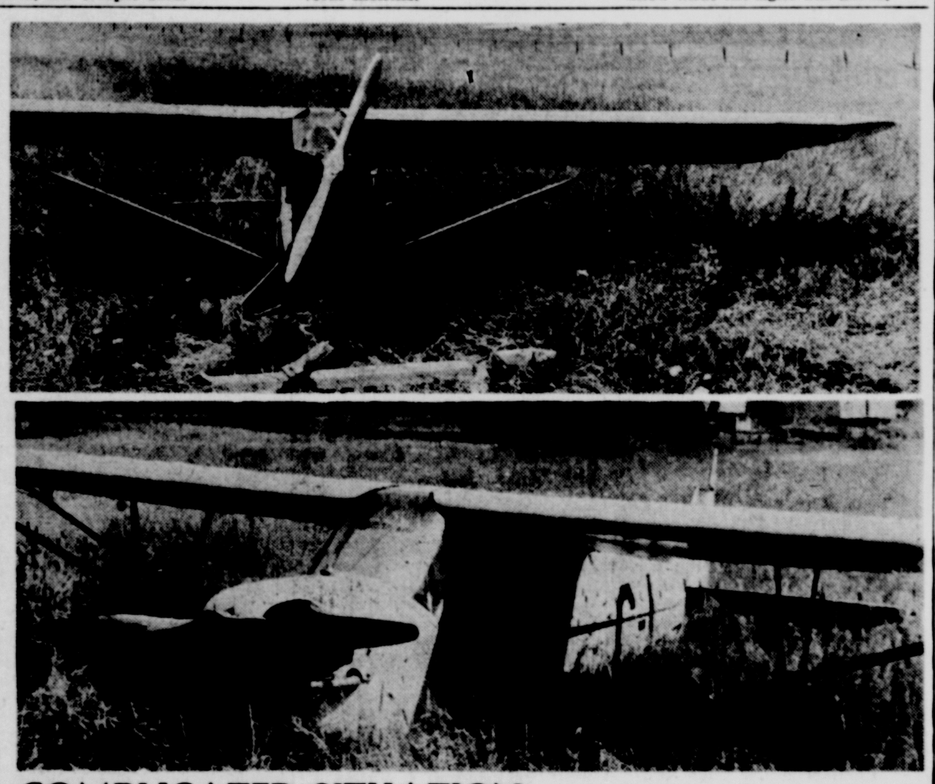

Commenting upon the toll cancer is taking in this country, Dr. Hawkins said that between the Revolutionary War and World War II, Americans have engaged in 15 years of armed conflict with 244,000 persons killed. In a 15 year period, he outlined, 300,000 are killed by automobiles. But cancer kills 40,000 annually, or a greater toll than any thing else.

He urged that all persons, who have any idea or suspicion that they have cancer, take immediate steps to have a thorough examination by a competent physician. It is better to know you have it and know you can be treated in time than to take chances and let cancer get a foothold which may prove fatal, he suggested.

Mrs. Eleanor S. Root Assumes New Duties

Mrs. Eleanor S. Root, Frostburg, has been named secretary to the Allegany County Liquor Control Board, and has established an office on the third floor of the Court House. The County Commissioners are planning to purchase needed desks, typewriter and other office equipment.

Mrs. Root was formerly secretary to the Juvenile Court magistrate and was also connected with the County Welfare Board here for a number of years. She also worked for Perrin and Perrin here for several months.

COMPLICATED SITUATION—When the two planes landed on Miss Ruth Clauson's property Tuesday night after the engine on the lower plane reportedly flown by Student Pilot D. G. Dehrbach, 721 Maryland Avenue, developed trouble, the Hazen Road resident brought to a showdown "hazards and annoyances" that she claims local pilots have been causing over her home for several years. Miss Clauson refused to permit the removal of either plane until employes of the Cumberland Airways Inc. agreed to compensate her for damage caused in the hay field. The lower plane, which was piloted by Instructor Robert J. Stevens, Frostburg, was permitted to take off from the field yesterday. The landing gear on the plane piloted by Dehrbach was damaged in the forced landing and will have to be trucked away, officials said. The plane Stevens was flying was repaired after the propellor was damaged when the plane nosed over in an attempted takeoff Tuesday night.

Legislative Group Ready To Start Inspection Trip

Headquarters Set Up In This City

Maryland's Legislative Council set up headquarters in the Fort Cumberland Hotel last night, held a brief business session and then relaxed before starting this morning on a four-day inspection trip of the state's two western counties.

Arriving at 10 p. m. on a special car on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the legislators, with only four members missing, were met near Queen City Station by a special bus which carried them to the hotel.

Sen. Joseph R. Byrnes, Baltimore president of the Senate, arrived later by automobile. Delegate Jacob Ramsburg, Frederick County, was here when the others arrived, and Delegate Jerome Robinson (Baltimore-4th) is expected today. Only Senator Joseph M. George (Queen Anne's) was unable to make the trip. Dr. Horace E. Flack, director of the Bureau of Legislative Reference, was in the party.

The business meeting, with Delegate Ferdinand C. Sybert, speaker of the House from Howard County, presiding, was only long enough to consider the itinerary of the trip which winds up Sunday afternoon at Oakland. At its close Sen. Robert B. Kimble (Allegany) and Mrs. Kimble, acting state commissioner of labor and industry, were hosts to the council at a reception in the private dining room at the hotel.

Only one change was noted in the original schedule announced here.

On orders of President Roy Barton White, of the Baltimore and Ohio, the Cincinnatian, the B. and O.'s crack train, will make its first unscheduled stop Sunday afternoon at Oakland to pick up the council members and take them back to Baltimore. Originally it was planned for the party to board the Cincinnatian at Keyser, W. Va.

Dr. Flack was instructed to write President White a letter of appreciation.

Today's schedule includes breakfast with former Attorney General William C. Walsh, inspection of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, inspection and lunch at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, meeting with Tasker G. Lowndes, president of the State Board of Education; business meeting with county, city and town officials after dinner at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Cutting Victim Identifies Man Who Stabbed Him

A warrant for the arrest of Marvin Hamilton, Paw Paw, W. Va., negro, in connection with a cutting scrape in which Lawrence Thompson, Piedmont, negro, was wounded Tuesday night, has been issued, Piedmont police officials said last night.

Thompson, according to authorities, identified Hamilton as the man who stabbed him in the right chest following an argument at 11 p. m. on the corner of Pearl and East Hampshire Streets, Piedmont.

Police said both men had patronized the Ramble Inn earlier in the evening, according to Thompson, but the fight and cutting occurred farther down the street and not in front of the inn as the NEWS stated yesterday.

Thompson, who was questioned yesterday by Prosecuting Attorney Vernon Rankin, Keyser, told authorities that he didn't know what type instrument Hamilton used to inflict the wounds.

Thompson was treated by a Piedmont physician after the fight, and police said last night they did not believe he had been wounded seriously. He was dismissed by the physician following treatment.

State police in Maryland and West Virginia were alerted to apprehend three men who fled from the scene of the fighting after Thompson was stabbed and Maryland State Police formed road block on Route 220 and Route 36.

Thompson told police he was fighting with a negro from Paw Paw when Hamilton inflicted the wounds. Police said they do not know what the fight was about.

End Of Downtown Parking Advised By Engineers

Off-Street Lots Are Recommended

Elimination of all parking in downtown areas of Cumberland would be desirable to facilitate the flow of traffic and utilize existing roadways to the fullest extent, according to the report of Whitman, Requart and Associates to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

The report points out, however, that such a restriction undoubtedly would result in objections from business and commercial houses.

Construction of the proposed cross-town viaduct and diversion of traffic from the downtown area would do much to reduce the intensity of traffic in the center of the city, according to the report, but even with such improvements it is doubted if conditions will be sufficiently improved to permit continued use of streets as parking areas.

The viaduct is seen as solving much of the problem, however, with the report pointing out that it will provide space for establishing public parking areas beneath the viaduct structure, and the engineers recommended that when such construction takes place the right-of-way below the bridge structure be developed for this purpose.

Engineers estimate that there will be sufficient area to permit the elimination of all parking in the downtown areas south of Baltimore Street.

For the area north of Baltimore Street it is believed that the only practicable solution is the construction of off-street parking lots, a problem now facing many cities.

The engineers say the solution appears to be the acquisition by the city of off-street parking areas which could be operated eoither by the city or by private parking lot operators under lease.

In high value property areas this solution is regarded as a costly one but one that appears to be necessary in view of both present and estimated future requirements.

For Cumberland it is believed that parking may be permitted on the relatively lightly travelled cross streets in the downtown area with the continuation of parking meters, but that on all streets which carry through traffic parking should be prohibited.

Miss Jean Dixon Dinner Guest Of Local Jaycees

Miss Caroline Jean Dixon, Cumberland's "Miss Maryland" was a guest of the Junior Association of Commerce, sponsors of the state competition which she won Monday night, at the association's dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Accompanied by Mrs. Carl P. Ballard, Jr., the former Miss Dixie Rafter who was "Miss Washington" several years ago, the pretty 18-year-old 1947 queen of the Queen City, was given a rising ovation by the 80 Jaycees present.

On reports of the contest, members of the committee told the Jaycees that the affair was a success in every way, and that arrangements are being made to send Miss Dixon and her chaperone to Atlantic City for the Miss America competition next month.

John M. Robb, president of the organization named the following committee to handle arrangements: Byron Kight, chairman; Jack Moore, transportation; David Kauffman, schedule and legal counsel; C. William Gilchrist, city and state promotion; F. Allan Weatherholt and Raymond O'Rourke, publicity planning; Ward Hauger and Bert Graham, awards.

It was disclosed last night in the reports of the competition, that Miss Dixon scored a total of 79 points, Miss Betty Lou Rankin as "Miss Lonaconing" scored 72 points and Miss Betty Zaleski, as "Miss Fort Meade," 71 points.

A survey of the balloting also indicated that heavier ballots were cast for Miss Dixon by out of town judges than by Cumberland judges. Cumberland judges frankly stated they leaned over backwards to be impartial and to give visiting girls every benefit of doubt. Jaycees were told that if visiting judges had followed the same trend of balloting as the local judges, the result would have been different.
